

Attack Wages Guide

By Labor, Economic Leaders

CHICAGO (AP) — The government's 3.2 per cent voluntary guideline to limit wage increases and hold down prices was attacked as ineffective and coercive during a two-day conference of business, labor and economic leaders this week.

The program was credited in a closing speech at the meeting Thursday by Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, with "a modest, but significant contribution to price and wage stability."

Ackley's talk before the 100 conferees brought a sharp clash of views in an exchange with members of this audience.

Joseph L. Block, chairman of Inland Steel Co., took exception to Ackley's assertion that the government had never used coercion in seeking cooperation of business and labor, but merely persuasion, and then of a rather low key variety.

Block referred to "the fracas between the government and certain steel companies" in January after a $5-a-ton increase in structural steel items was announced.

"Instructions were issued by the government not to buy steel from companies that had raised prices," Block said. "Don't you consider that coercion?"

Ackley commented that the government's steel purchase order was an action of the marketplace, and not very effective.

"Not effective!" said Block. "You beat the prices down."

During the sessions at the University of Chicago, which were billed as a "conference on guidelines, informal controls, and the marketplace," a number of papers were read by economists and businessmen, most of whom held that the administration's guideline did not hold down wages and had an extremely limited effect on prices.

Foil Bid To Overthrow Government

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican attorney general's office says foreign and Mexican agitators planned to use the university student strike as the springboard for overthrow of the government.

The attorney general's office said Thursday night that an investigation after the arrest of three Argentines and five Mexicans had uncovered a plot to set up a "Communist-type" government by provoking a crisis among the students and subverting other groups.

Arrests of the eight persons was announced Tuesday after student rioting which resulted in the forced resignation of the national university's rector.

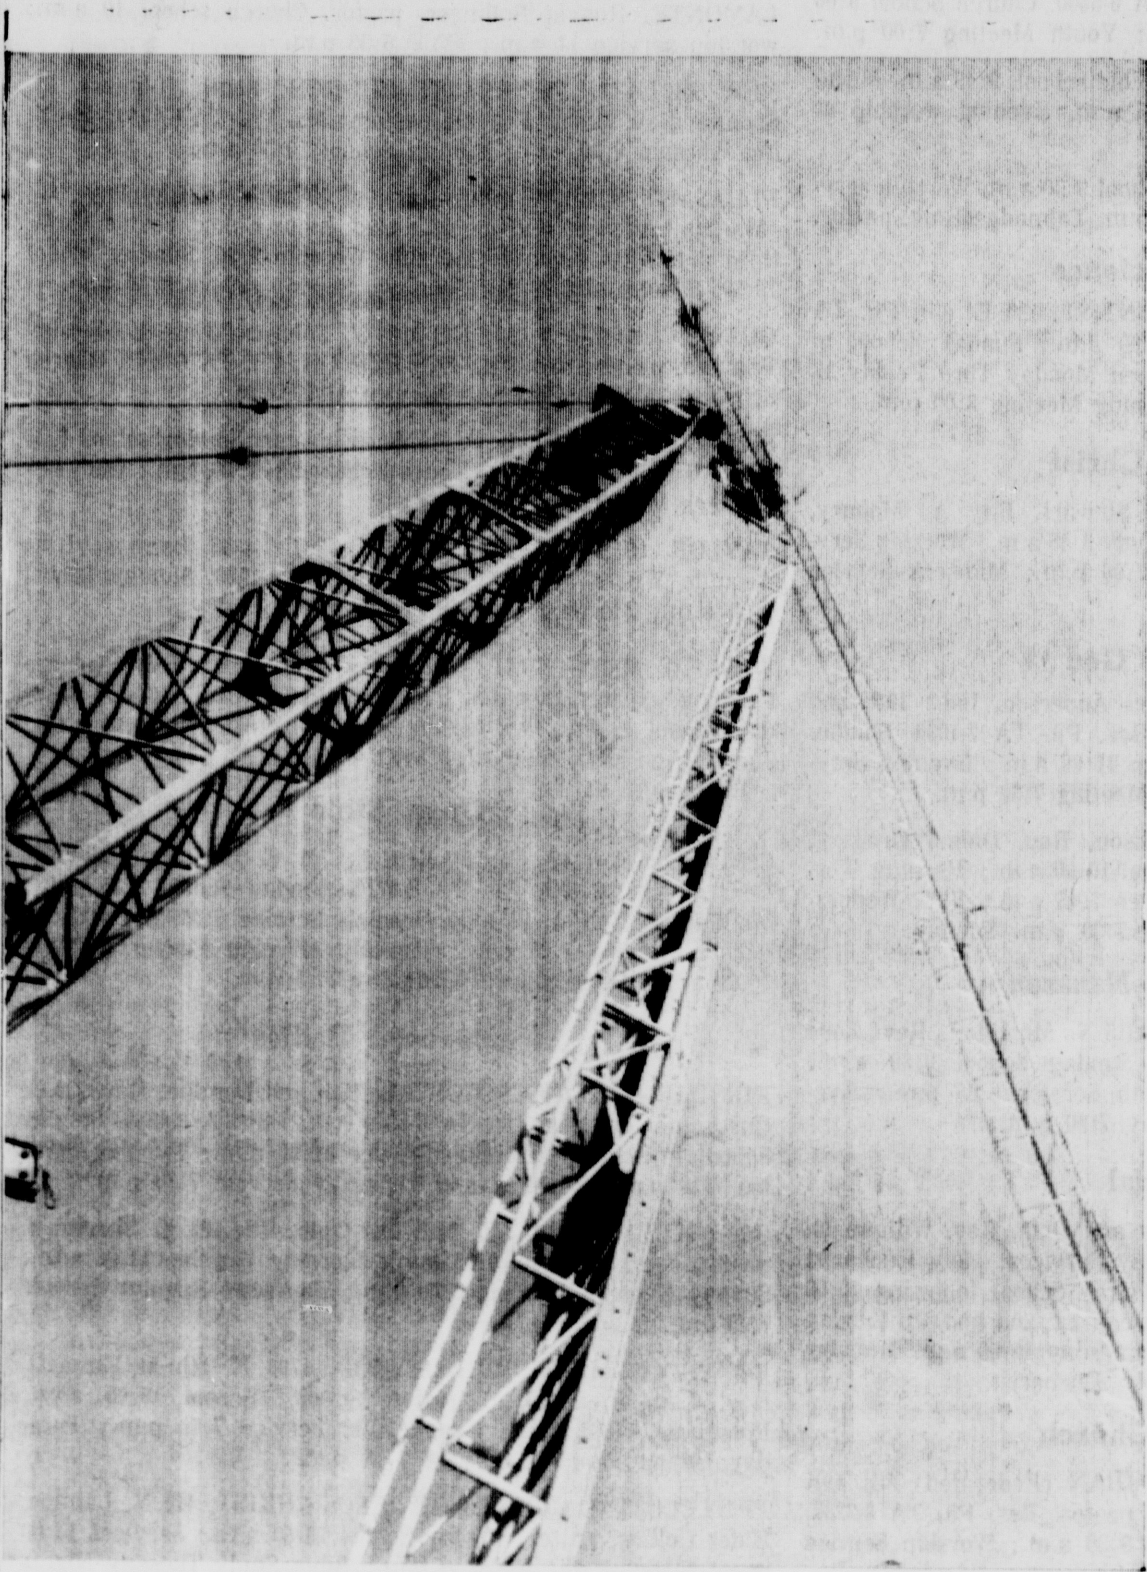

The plot "called for a strike to begin at the university's law school and then spread to other schools in the university," the attorney general's report said. "Later on they would seek support from labor and other social groups."

The eight under arrest have confessed agreeing at several secret meetings to give moral and financial support to the striking students, the report added.

One of the Argentines is Oscar Fernandez Bruno, a leader of the Revolutionary Worker's party. The report said he distributed pamphlets calling on students to stir up disorders both inside and outside the sprawling university campus.

The others arrested were identified as Teresa Confrata de Fernandez and Adolfo Otilio Malvagni Gilly, also of Argentina, and Mexicans Gildardo Islas Carranza, Ramon Vargas Salguero, Maria Elena Vargas Salguero, Sergio Garcia Estrada and Leopoldo Francisco Zapata Muzquis.

They are being held on charges of conspiracy and illegal association. The three Argentines also are charged with document forgery and violation of immigration laws.

Public Hearings On Dodd, Klein

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee announced today it will conduct public hearings on "the alleged relationship" between Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., and Julius Klein, owner of a Chicago public relations firm.

The bipartisan committee said the date for starting the hearings will be announced later, adding it desired to allow Dodd "sufficient time to prepare his defense."

The hearings will be the first held by the select committee on standards and conduct. They will go into only one phase of the committee's investigation into misconduct charges against Dodd.

Dodd's use of funds raised at testimonial dinners in his honor also has been questioned. He has denied any improper conduct.

Klein, a retired Army major general who is a registered agent for West German interests, issued a statement in New York Thursday saying he had made campaign contributions to Dodd and others but had never asked for anything in return.

The investigation by the six-member Senate committee, set up to police senatorial ethics after the furor over the Bobby Baker case, was requested by Dodd. He said he had nothing to conceal.

The committee's statement said its public hearings will be preceded by closed-door hearings to determine which activities of Dodd's relationship with Klein fall within its jurisdiction.

"Upon completion of the hearings into this phase of Sen. Dodd's conduct, the committee will decide what further hearings to hold," the statement said.

The committee's statement made no reference to the current controversy over fundraising dinners for the Connecticut senator and whether the receipts, totaling between $100,000 and $200,000 were tax-exempt gifts to help him meet his personal expenses as a public official.

The Internal Revenue Service disclosed Thursday that it is looking into that matter.

The committee said Dodd "has been informed of the substance of the complaint he will face as to the Klein matters."

The committee, with Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., as chairman and Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, as vice chairman, said that the witnesses will be announced at the time of their appearance.

Marshall Goes On Daylight Savings Time

Marshall will go on daylight saving time starting at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, May 1, according to the Daily Democrat-News. Mayor Gerald Leach said members of the City Council were polled by telephone and that the vote was 7 to 3 for daylight saving.

Councilman Carl Pemberton was out-of-town and thus unable to be polled in the vote but Mayor Leach said he felt certain Mr. Pemberton would have voted for the plan had he been contacted.

The Mayor added that the City Council will pass an ordinance next Monday night to back up the telephone poll vote of Wednesday.

The Weather

Mostly cloudy through Saturday with several periods of showers and thunderstorms; thunderstorms will become more frequent with heavier rainfall on Saturday; gradual warming trend. Showers ending and cooler Sunday. Low tonight 50 to 55. High Saturday in 60s.

The temperature Friday was 52 at 7 a.m., and 68 at noon. Low Thursday night was 50.

The temperature one year ago today was high 79; low 42; two years ago, high 63; low 43; three years ago, high 72; low 58.

Lake of Ozark stage: 56.0 feet; 4.0 below full reservoir; down 2.

Music Week Holds Place In History

"National Music Week," which is sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs, will hold a significant place in the annals of musical history in Sedalia this year, officials of the Sedalia Symphony Society believe.

Between May 1-8, "National Music Week" will be commemorated throughout the United States, and it is more than coincidence that one of the greatest contemporary pianists, composers, arrangers, and band leaders in the country would be able to make an appearance in Sedalia during music week.

The committee, with Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., as chairman and Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, as vice chairman, said that the witnesses will be announced at the time of their appearance.

Long's Condition Is Satisfactory

WASHINGTON (AP) — The condition of Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., who underwent an operation in Walter Reed Hospital Thursday for removal of tonsils and had other minor surgery, is satisfactory, his aides reported today.

New Combat Troops Land, Boost US-Viet Nam Force

Completes Big Increase Since First of the Year

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States landed more than 4,000 fresh combat troops in Viet Nam today, boosting the American buildup to nearly 250,000 men, but the ground war continued at a low ebb.

Jungle-trained infantrymen of the 25th "Tropic Lightning" Division from Hawaii came ashore at Vung Tau, 45 miles southeast of Saigon. Their arrival completed a 25 per cent increase in American forces since the start of the year.

US Troops Wound Six Attackers

Clash Comes In Wake of Day-Long Dominican Upsets

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — U.S. troops fired on demonstrators attacking them Thursday night and wounded six of the Dominicans.

The clash came after a day of anti-American demonstrations by leftists celebrating the anniversary of the revolution last April and demanding that U.S. forces leave the Dominican Republic.

A U.S. military spokesman gave this account of the shooting incident:

Demonstrators in the Villa Duarte suburb, on the eastern edge of the capital, marched toward a U.S. 82nd Airborne observation post near a bridge.

The crowd chanted anti-American slogans and burned a U.S. flag, then began throwing rocks. Three pistol shots were fired at the GIs.

The U.S. troops, under strict orders not to shoot unless authorized, fired 14 rounds at the demonstrators.

One report said that a 2-year-old child was among those wounded.

Later Thursday night an explosion rocked the area near the bridge, but the national police said it was a noise bomb hurled from a passing vehicle.

Witnesses said the demonstrators at the observation post were members of the Dominican Popular movement and the Castroite 14th of June movement. These groups were involved in an earlier demonstration in front of the U.S. Embassy, where Communist-led demonstrators burned three American flags they had brought with them.

During the 90-minute rally, several thousand persons shouted anti-U.S. slogans and carried placards demanding the immediate withdrawal of American troops. They did not attempt to enter the embassy grounds, which were protected by 250 Dominican national policemen armed with rifles, and there were no incidents.

'War Fever' Is Gripping Americans

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., says "a war fever" has begun to grip America and could lead to global conflict.

At the very least, he adds, it is crippling President Johnson's "Great Society" programs.

American military involvement in Viet Nam, Fulbright said in a speech Thursday night, has diverted energies from the Great Society and "generated the beginnings of a war fever in the minds of American people and their leaders."

The war fever "is only just now getting under way," the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee told a dinner meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers Association's Bureau of Advertising.

Fulbright said: "But, as the war goes on, as casualty lists grow longer and affect more and more American homes, the fever will rise and the patience of the American people will give way to mounting demands for an expanded war, for a lightning blow that will get it over with at a stroke."

A Compromise

Budget Package Is Made Public

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee today made public a compromise budget package that totaled $1.114 billion for operation of Missouri's government in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

It would leave a surplus cushion of $20 million, plus an extra

$2,302,507 in estimated revenue as of July 1, 1967.

The compromise figure was $1,983,365 above the governor's recommendations in general revenue expenditures but only $658,437 above the governor's recommendations in expenditures from all sources.

The total from general revenue (taxes) would be $424,502, 659 and from other funds including federal allotments $681,131, 781.

Both houses hope to act on the budget bills by Tuesday of next week in a schedule that calls for final adjournment of the special session Wednesday.

Few substantial changes were made from Senate figures on appropriations.

Fulton State Hospital was given $150,500 for a special closed circuit television system to keep track of activity in the Biggs building where the criminally insane are kept.

The committee knocked out $400,000 for preparing the site of a multi-purpose auditorium building on the Columbia campus of the University of Missouri. Sen. J. F. Patterson, D-Carruthersville, Senate Appropriations Chairman, said a close look must be taken at the request because of the tight budget.

He said the total outlay for the building is nearly $8 million and $400,000 just to prepare the land seemed exorbitant.

But the conference committee kept in an additional $700,000 for a livestock center at the university, to provide for a complex costing a total of $1.4 million.

Repairs and replacements at the university was set at $475,000 instead of the $500,000 approved by the House. And the university was given $200,000 in the compromise for campus development sites. The House had recommended that amount.

Overall the university at Columbia got $2,650,000 for capital improvements. The House had recommended $3,075,000.

The House had approved $500,000 for repairs and replacements at the M. U. campus in Columbia. The Senate cut that to $250,000 but the conference set the final figure at $475,000.

Congress In No Mood To Heed LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress seems to be in no mood to heed President Johnson's request that it quit giving him funds he hasn't asked for.

Its most recent actions indicate that it intends to continue approaching the national budget with a two-edged sword, one razor sharp to trim some of the President's programs and the other blunted when it comes to acting on some costly pro-Johnson projects.

To date the House has passed four of about a dozen annual appropriation bills. None has cleared the Senate. The net result of the House action has been to increase by about $556 million the money requested by the President.

On nonmoney bills which will require future appropriations, Congress has overshot the budget on benefits for veterans and aid for the elderly. And it is about to puncture it again on pay raises for federal employees.

House committees have approved increases of $245 million in antipoverty program funds and have boosted requested amounts for military hardware procurement by about $142 million.

Get An Early Start

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A violent gust ripped the roof off a building at the Ferry Lumber Co., but the company vice president, Lawrence F. Pierson, wasn't bothered.

"We looked on it as just an early start on urban renewal," Pierson said. Ferry Lumber is in a zone marked for redevelopment.

Hot Pursuit, Sanctuary Explained

No Direct Strike On Chinese Bases Is Foreseen Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have drawn a distinction between a "no sanctuary" policy and the principle of "hot pursuit."

They said hot pursuit means chasing an enemy during a combat engagement — even across a frontier. But this does not include a deliberate strike at an enemy base — the no sanctuary policy.

In explaining the distinction, U.S. officials cited the Korean war. Then U.S. planes flew across the Yalu River into Chinese air space during running engagements, they said, but the United States held to the sanctuary principle, barring attacks on the Chinese mainland.

But Red China will risk retaliations on her home territory if she intervenes in the Viet Nam conflict, officials said. They added, however, that U.S. forces would counterattack across the Chinese border only after a careful decision high in the U.S. government.

The explanation on China's risk and high level decisions was given to about 700 of the nation's editors and broadcasters attending a two-day State Department briefing on foreign policy.

The semiannual conference ends today with scheduled appearances by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Undersecretary George W. Ball and other high officials. Thursday's listed speakers included Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Army Chief of Staff Gen. Harold K. Johnson and William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

Fears that America will be drawn into war with Communist China have been voiced by some in the wake of recent aerial dogfights in North Viet Nam and the State Department's reaffirmation that there is no sanctuary for those entering the Viet Nam war.

Radioactive Iodine Found In Nevadans

FRENCHMAN FLAT, Nev. (AP) — Radioactive iodine has been discovered in 13 Nevada residents after an underground nuclear blast accidentally leaked radioactivity over five states, the Atomic Energy Commission says.

The AEC said Thursday that radioactivity — well below danger levels — was spread north-west of here over Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas after the "low yield" nuclear device was tested last Monday. The AEC said the explosion had the force of less than 20,000 tons of dynamite.

A geologic fault apparently directed the force of the blast northward, the AEC said.

A spokesman said 11 children and two adults were found to have radioactive iodine in their thyroid glands after the tests Wednesday by the Public Health Service.

All of those found to have increased radioactivity were from Alamo and Hiko, Nev., about 70 miles from the scene of the test.

Embattled Ambassador Comes Home

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The most embattled American ambassador in the world heads home Saturday for a major review of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Henry Cabot Lodge leaves behind his fortress-like embassy in steaming Saigon and the largest American military and civilian force in any foreign country.

He also leaves tough problems that include political turmoil in South Viet Nam as well as the bitter war against the Communist Viet Cong.

He has promised to return in two to three weeks. Rumors that he plans to resign have been denied.

"The ambassador is in top shape, the crisis has not destroyed his nerves or his stamina," a close associate said of the 63-year-old diplomat. "To use an old-fashioned word, he is a patriot. He could well retire on his laurels. But he considers it his duty to serve here as long as he can and is useful."

To eliminate any appearance of a crisis trip, Lodge plans to stop in Rome on the way to Washington and may see Pope Paul VI. Then he expects to spend a few days around Boston, his home area. He is due in Washington May 7 or 8.

U.S. officials are firm — "No crisis decisions will result from his trip. It will be a general, important review and perhaps some new policy decisions. But this is no crisis trip."

FINDING THE WAY

Our Lives vs. Values

By RALPH W. LOWE, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A spiraling economy empha-sizes the high cost of living and the worries which plague both the citizen and his government. It's a subtle but a very real change. What a dollar purchased in 1940 is not the same as in 1966. The whole situation chal-lenges the President's insistence that we can have both guns and butter. Is this what we want? What's the price?

At the same time a parallel-ing revolution has been going on in our values system. A shift in attitude towards moral stand-ards raises similar questions. Is this what we want? What's the price?

Uncontrolled inflation can wreck our economic security; changing patterns of thinking can reveal the emptiness of what we thought was our faith. If we tolerate a pious emptiness with-out a maturing sense of the presence of a living God, then we pay the price. To neglect health is to pay the price. To neglect the education of children is to pay the price. To be silent on moral issues that involve our national and domestic existence is to pay the price. Then we end up, as several cogent ob-servers have insisted, knowing the price of everything and the value of nothing. Either we discover what it means to worship in spirit and truth or there's the devil to pay.

These are days which demand a fearsome price in physical courage of many of our young men; it ought to demand the equal balance of moral courage in re-examining our faith, con-sidering what it is that our country is meant to be.

All of us remember Patrick Henry's "Give me liberty or give me death." What we forget is that those clarion words of the Revolutionary period of our his-tory were taken from a larger context. Patrick Henry said, "Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God. I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death." That was his goal. It ought to be our goal to think of the demands upon our re-sources of faith and energy just now.

One after another of the He-brew prophets challenged their generations to consider the price for their follies. Jesus asked simply, "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" It is a time to look to the founda-tions and to ask what it is that we really want our lives to mean. What is it that we want to achieve? What do we want our country to achieve?

A man has to die for some-thing and he'd better choose the causes for which he gives his time, his energy, his resources and his life.

When we pay the price in the total commitment of our lives, we ought to be certain that the price is not too great. We're pay-ing a price; we'd better consider our values!

Dr. Christofersen

At Immanuel United Church of Christ on May 4 at 7:30 p.m., Dr. Howard R. Christofersen, superintendent of the famous McCord Zulu Hospital in Durban, South Africa, will speak.

He serves as a medical mis-sionary in South Africa under the United Church Board for World Ministries, overseas agency of the United Church of Christ, a union of Congregation-al Christian and Evangelical and Reformed churches.

Dr. Christofersen joined the medical staff of McCord Hospi-tal in 1953; in 1964, he was ap-pointed superintendent.

Highly regarded for pioneer work and multiracial staff, the 320-bed McCord Zulu Hospital was founded in 1909 by the Con-gregational Christian overseas mission board to serve non-Europeans of the Durban area. More than 8,000 in-patients and 73,915 out-patients were treated there last year.

Dr. Christofersen and his wife, aided in establishing a nurses training school at the McCord Hospital for Zulu women. An-nually some 35 women complete the four-year course of training, which is comparable to the best American training standards.

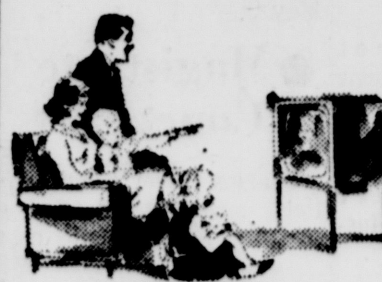

Dr. Christofersen was no stran-ger to South Africa when he went there as a doctor 12 years ago. Son of missionary parents, he was taken to that country as a baby and spent most of his boyhood among the Bantu peo-ple.

Sultan's Soldiers Seek 20 Men

ADEN (AP)—Troops loyal to the Sultan of Muscat and Oman scoured the desert for 20 mutineers after poor shooting by rebellious soldiers saved the Arabian peninsula ruler from assassination.

The attempt on the life of Sultan Said Bin Taimu occurred Tuesday during a parade in the port of Salalah. As the troops were presenting arms, five soldiers broke formation and fired on the ruler.

The shots missed the sultan but two of his bodyguards and a Pakistani officer of the Dhofar Province armed force were killed. Three rebels were killed by loyal troops and 19 other mutineers were arrested.

Two Pakistani officers of the Dhofar force and an Arab corporal were wounded and were flown to Aden by the British Royal Air Force, which has a staging depot at Salalah.

One of the Pakistani officers, a lieutenant colonel, received serious bayonet wounds in the stomach when he struggled with a mutineer.

Salalah, the chief town of Dhofar Province, is a port on the Arabian Sea 700 miles north-east of Aden.

The oil-rich sultanate on the southeast corner of the Arabian peninsula is independent but has strong ties to Britain. The population of 750,000 is mostly Arab. The 55-year-old sultan is the 13th ruler of his dynasty.

Family's Interests Are Varied

By LAWRENCE A. BARRETT

Pittsburg, Kan. (AP)—Nelson O. Corporon, new mayor of Pittsburg, has seven brothers and sisters and his parents are both ordained ministers in the Christian Church.

His father, the Rev. G. W. Corporon of nearby Arcadia, Kan., was officiating minister at the wedding of each of his eight children. He once was editor of the Arcadia newspaper and still maintains a law office there and serves as a tax consultant.

Mayor Corporon's mother, Mrs. Porteus Corporon, also an ordained minister, was Kansas Mother of the Year in 1951.

The mayor is personnel director of the McNally Pittsburg Manufacturing Corp.

Two brothers also are former newspapermen. John Corporon was a reporter for the Pittsburg newspapers and now is news director of a New Orleans television station. George Corporon Jr., once was a sports writer with the Pittsburg newspapers. He is a principal of Wyandotte High School in Kansas City, Kan.

Nelson, John, another brother, Charles, and a sister, Mrs. Porteus Corporon Hughes, all were newspaper carriers while in school in Arcadia. Charles is a salesman for a Denver firm, and Mrs. Hughes is the wife of a radio station manager in McPherson, Kan.

Another sister, Mrs. Margaret Corporon Wickstrom, is an ordained minister and is the wife of a minister, the Rev. O. C. Wickstrom of Claremore, Okla.

Another brother, Lewis Corporon, is director of religious education in the Ponca City, Okla., Christian Church. A sister, Mrs. Mary Virginia Corporon Sheard is the wife of Paul Sheard, Arcadia distributor for an oil company.

The Rev. Corporon, although retired from active ministry, still officiates at many weddings and funerals. He is proud of having been the officiating minister at the weddings of all his eight children and says he is looking forward to performing similar services for his grandchildren when they become of marrying age.

in the air battles as North Vietnamese. However, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has raised the question of what might happen when "our planes will pursue hostile aircraft to wherever they go—even over the border of China."

Asked about Kennedy's views, U.S. officials said:

— There has been no recent change in the pattern of U.S. air strikes on North Viet Nam.

— Washington has no evidence that Red Chinese planes have been involved in the air fights. The North Vietnamese have increased numbers of more advanced type MIGs and they have sent them into battle.

— If Red Chinese forces did intervene, the United States would not accept the concept of a sanctuary, or safe haven, for them. But any decision to take action would be made only after very careful consideration at a high governmental level.

Conscience Pangs See A Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Treasury Department's Conscience Fund is any barometer, Americans apparently are suffering fewer pangs of conscience these days.

Contributions have fallen sharply during the past two years from Americans who, anonymously or otherwise, want to right a minor wrong committed against the government.

The fund, established in 1811 while James Madison was president, had brought $2,874,182.78 into the Treasury through last July 31. But since then contributions have moved barely past $10,000, officials said today.

If the trend continues, this year's conscience collections will be the lowest in 25 years.

The fund was established primarily to receive money from persons who defrauded the government or stole or destroyed government property and wanted to make restitution. Religion is the main motive for the contributions, Treasury officials believe.

As far as the department can determine the first conscience money — $5 — came from an anonymous 1811 donor who contended he had defrauded the government. Other deposits that year brought the total to $250 but nothing more came in until 1827 when $6 was collected.

Except for 1848, some conscience money has reached the Treasury every year since. Individual gifts ranged from one cent to $7,786. The peak year was 1950 when $350,285 was collected. In fiscal 1965, collections were $25,585.

In 1962, the Treasury stopped crediting the fund with payments from taxpayers who wanted to square their income tax accounts. It still includes some of the anonymous tax contributions, however.

The Bureau of Accounts, which manages the fund, said many contributors are former servicemen who stole small items while in service. Some contributors confess to cheating on customs inspections while others offer no explanation.

Officials said probably no more than 150 to 200 persons contribute to it yearly.

Johnson Family Has Top Billing

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—With the Johnson family in the starring role, cattle barons, oil magnates and party faithful with lesser but adequate purses poured a bundle into the Democratic coffers Thursday night.

Just how much a dinner-dance raised was not announced but it was no small sum.

Some 900 members of the President's Club from five states turned out for the event. But Robert H. Fleming, deputy press secretary, said it did not necessarily mean $900,000 was raised.

Fleming explained that different states have different rules and that some of those on hand had paid their $1,000 in advance. This is the minimum contribution to qualify for the club.

Democratic officials said the event here and similar fund-raisers later in Chicago, New York and Los Angeles are expected to wipe out the present Democrat deficit of $31.1 million.

In addition to the President, Mrs. Johnson, and daughters Lynda Bird, 22, and Luci Baines, 18, were on hand. The faithful also got to meet Patrick Joseph Nugent, 22, who is to marry Luci on August 18.

The President obviously enjoyed the party. He did not leave for Washington until 12:50 a.m. EST — 1 hour and 50 minutes after his announced departure time. Mrs. Johnson and Lynda continued on to Austin, Tex.

Democrats were on hand from Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

Governors included John Connally of Texas, Orval Faubus of Arkansas and Jack Campbell of New Mexico.

Johnson gave the Democrats what amounted to a pep talk, urging them to put the nation's interests ahead of all else.

As is customary when the big contributors get together, newsmen were not admitted, but Fleming relayed to them the gist of what Johnson had to say.

According to Fleming, Johnson said: "The decisions I must make transcend party considerations as I try to do my best — the best for all citizens. I believe that is what you expect of me. I ask you and every American to put America first if you want to keep it first. Put it ahead of self if you want to keep it moving ahead. Put it ahead of party if you want to seize the larger victory of peace, freedom and prosperity. Put away all childish and diverse things if you want the maturity and unity that are mortal of the nation's greatness."

Vivid Story, And Good Photography

One Man Is Killed In Two-Car Collision

NEOSHO, Mo. (AP) — Three cars collided at the intersection of U.S. 71 and old U.S. 60 at the west end of Neosho and caused the death of one man Thursday.

Henry C. Martin, 54, of Joplin, driver of one of the cars, was killed. Virgil Felix Naramore, 59, of Goodman, another driver, was injured seriously and was taken to a Neosho hospital.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said the third car, driven by Elizabeth A. Edmondson, 64, of Cassville, came off the old highway and struck the side of the Naramore car. The impact caused the Naramore car to collide head-on with the Martin machine, traveling in the opposite direction.

work's series of special programs produced by the National Geographic Society.

Material used in the earlier shows was obviously taken for the record or to be used in connection with lectures. This one was shot last September and October by skilled and sensitive cameramen who had television's special needs in mind.

Cousteau, the French underwater explorer, headed the project to build a "steel planet," a globe 20 feet in diameter, containing cramped living quarters and supplies for six young divers who lived and worked almost 400 feet below the Mediterranean for almost a month without surfacing.

In many ways, the stay was reminiscent of space exploits. The men existed in a completely artificial environment and spent most of their time, inside and outside, performing experiments. One involved repair of an oil rig, designed to see whether hard, physical work could be tackled so deep by men with aqualungs.

The commentary, partly by Cousteau and generally by Orson Welles, was precise, informative and almost poetic. Much of the program's startling beauty was in the color and shadings of light and dark.

CBS will drop reruns of "The Trials of O'Brien" in mid-June for some shows about comedy stars and starring the team of Wayne and Schuster. The shows were originally made for Canadian broadcast.

The "O'Brien" show, widely heralded as a quality winner, if a ratings loser, did not rate even one nomination among 226 in the "Emmy" Awards lists.

Ann Landers Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I work in a four-girl office handling the switchboard and doing some typing.

A few weeks ago I began to knit a sweater for my boy friend. My boss walked by and asked what I was doing. I told him I was knitting a golf sweater. He said in a half-kidding way, "Since you're doing it on my time, I want it."

I thought nothing of his remark until a couple of days ago when the boss came by again and asked me how "his" sweater was coming. He held it up and allowed as how it was going to be a perfect fit—and that the colors pleased him, too.

I'd like to give this sweater to the boss because he has been very good to me, but my boy friend is violently opposed to the idea. I don't know what to do, Ann. I think the boss is expecting the sweater, but I don't want to have any trouble with my boy friend. Please advise. — KNIT WIT.

Dear Wit: Give this sweater to your boy friend and get busy on a second one—for the boss. And since he made a crack about knitting on his time I suggest you do all future knitting at home. Many a truth is spoken in jest.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 17-year-old son has always been a good student and an outstanding athlete. I can't be objective about this boy because I am his mother, so I'm asking for your opinion.

A girl (I'll call her Debbie) telephones our son at least once a night. I was hoping she'd see your column several weeks ago about girls who telephone boys. If she saw it, it didn't help.

Two weeks ago this girl got a new car for her 16th birthday. She comes by every morning to drive our son to school.

She always manages to ring the doorbell when we are at the breakfast table. Naturally I feel compelled to invite her to join us.

I'm a slow mover in the morning and it's all I can do to attend to the demands of my family at that hour. Company at 8:00 A.M. I don't need.

Should I keep quiet and hope this romance dies of natural causes or should I drop a hint and hope she takes it? — BURN-ED TOAST.

Dear Burned: A hint would not phase this girl. Tell your son to ask Debbie to please wait in the car. A 16-year-old girl who doesn't know any better than to ring a boy's doorbell at 8:00 A.M. needs to be educated.

Dear Ann: When I was attending church last Sunday the man seated behind me snapped two coins together during the entire sermon. This really upset me but I kept quiet.

Last night I attended a musical. A fellow who sat next to me clipped his nails throughout the evening. The snapping sound almost drove me nuts.

Do I have a case of jumpiness, as a friend of mine suggested, or were these two people out of line? — BOWLING GREEN.

Dear B.G.: Both men were unspeakably rude. Why didn't you express your annoyance? Too many people behave like doormats and then wonder why they get stepped on.

Indifference Can Be Costly

Coincident with the comment that Sedalia is dragging its feet on adoption of daylight saving time, a comparative newcomer writes: "I have lived in Sedalia for less than two years, but I can see that once again the fair city of Sedalia is going to maintain its stranglehold on first place as the most backward city of the State of Missouri."

Tut, tut! Those are harsh words.

What he is speaking about is daylight saving time, an innovation which should give other persons than golfers an extra hour of daylight to do with as they see fit.

So many misconceptions have arisen about DST that some of them are ludicrous, according to a disgruntled taxpayer. Why, he asks, would restaurant owners have to open at 4 a.m. on DST? Their "logic" lost him because "everyone will be on the same time and will go to work at the same time, unless the poor dears are so hot they can't sleep and want to eat breakfast an hour earlier, in which case they will just have to sit around and sweat for another hour before time to go to work."

Another inconvenience is pointed out by the business man who has an appointment in towns to the northeast, east and southeast which are observing daylight time. In case he had a 5 p.m. appointment in Boonville, he would have to leave Sedalia at 3 p.m. standard time to make it.

One of the surprising aspects of this subject was the eagerness with which other communities adjoining Sedalia to the east made the time switch. Scarcely any interest was shown here until last week when petitions started to circulate for DST. Almost immediately opposition petitions were prepared.

The proposals were aired at City Council meeting Monday night but no action taken. A question was raised whether council had a legal right to make the change. The city councillor was asked to check into the law and report at a pre-caucus meeting May 2.

This puts fast time into slow motion while an over-cautious council gets its eye-teeth into a controversial issue on the theory a stitch in time might come unraveled and expose members to criticism from Warrensburg or Kansas City, which are staying with standard time.

Certain unfavorable economic impacts are being felt by some Sedalia firms and individuals in the delivery and traveling business while this community remains indifferent to making a change to daylight time.

Why wait a year until federal law forces us into DST and thus keep the confusion and financial loss going on around here until October 30?

Do we have to be indifferent, indecisive, and over-sensitive about hurting someone's feelings if we are in favor of adopting daylight time?

Whether city council has the legal right to adopt the time change as councils in other communities have done, this should not provide the members with an excuse to avoid giving DST an endorsement. That will at least keep them off the fence.

In the meantime those who have expressed indifference about the subject, and those who are definitely in favor of DST, can communicate with the mayor and aldermen before next Monday night and urge adoption of daylight time for Sedalia.

The jury of award on the Elks National Essay contest, sponsored by Sedalia Lodge No. 125 in the high schools here, selected the following winners: First, Miss Jane Purvis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Washington Merry-Go-Round

Starts On First Million In Congress

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — When Victor Wickersham, Oklahoma Democrat, first came to Congress back in the 1940s he made a speech in the House of Representatives in which he said: "I am a poor man." He advocated an increase in congressional salaries.

Today, the congressman from Mangum, Okla., is trying to get back in Congress, even though congressional salaries are low. But this time he can't claim he is poor. For in the files of the Federal Communications Commission is a statement in which Wickersham applies to buy radio station KREK in Sapulpa, showing that his net worth is $1,579,789 and that in 90 days he sold over $3 million worth of life insurance.

Just how the poor boy who once listed himself in the congressional directory as "reared on a cotton, wheat and dairy farm," made himself a millionaire is a fascinating story.

During much of this time he was serving in Congress, yet the money kept rolling in. Here is the inside story of how he made himself a millionaire:

First he got his 72-year-old father a job on Uncle Sam's payroll as a Library of Congress watchman and Capitol Hill elevator operator. This saved family upkeep.

Second he ran a used-car lot on a rent-free congressional parking lot with the taxes paid by Uncle Sam.

He also put James W. Taylor on the congressional payroll at the rate of $7,720 a year, though Taylor was then travelling as a commission salesman for the Herd Equipment Company in Oklahoma. Taylor claimed he was sampling voter sentiment for the congressman.

"He's A Liar"

Wickersham also conducted real estate buying and selling on the side and put Lloyd Matthews in his Washington real estate office at a congressional salary of $2,298. The salary was paid by all the taxpayers but —A professor with nothing better to do has figured out that if you bore a straight hole through the earth from, say Philadelphia to Moscow, or to London, or to Harrisburg or to any place else on earth, and then drop a frictionless commuter train into the hole, it will emerge at its destination, on gravity power alone, precisely 42.2 minutes later. Forty-two and two-tenths minutes, no matter which destination you pick, since the bore is straight down for the more distant points and thus affords a greater tug from gravity. What a boring idea.

Gives Congress Toughest Bill Ever

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — No more ho-hum.

Boredom used to be the response in Congress when anyone, including a president, proposed a civil rights bill. That seems ages ago.

Now President Johnson is handing Congress one of the toughest civil rights bills ever.

It will be picked at, hacked at, and, no doubt, riddled. But the tide has turned. That alone should assure some kind of civil rights bill going through.

There's another reason. This is a congressional election year, which is all the more inducement for Johnson to put the pressure on for action.

Less than 20 years ago the House would overwhelmingly pass an antipoll tax since the House ban on filibusters left the

Arthur Hoffman Is Initiated Into Fraternity

Arthur C. Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hoffman, 825 West Sixth Street, has been initiated into Phi Eta Sigma National honor fraternity at the University of Missouri. Dr. W. Eugene Clingen, University of Missouri faculty advisor, announced today.

Clingen stated that Arthur was among 92 out of a freshman class of 2,413 male students who were eligible for membership, and that his grade average was above the necessary 3.5 semester average required for membership.

In a letter to Dr. Bruce Riddle, principal of Smith-Cotton High School, Clingen commended Smith-Cotton High School for the excellent college preparation given to Arthur which, Clingen said, had much to do with Arthur earning this distinction at the University.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Eyeball Pressure May Signal Glaucoma

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — What is the purpose of the tonometer test on the eye? Should the patient be told the result?

A — The tonometer measures the pressure within your eyeball. Everyone who is over 50 should have this test at least once every two years because an increased pressure is first sign of glaucoma — a frequent cause of blindness. There is no need to tell the patient the pressure reading but he should certainly be told whether or not it is within the normal range.

Q — My doctor is giving me Amnytal for my nerves. Would this have any effect on glaucoma?

A — Although nervous tension does not cause glaucoma it may aggravate it. Any drug your doctor gives you to reduce nervous tension, if not directly beneficial to your glaucoma, would certainly not make it worse.

Q — Is there a new drug for glaucoma that is given by injection?

A — Many drugs are used in the control of glaucoma. These include eye drops, tablets and injections into the muscles or veins. The latter category would include some of the newer diuretics (drugs to get rid of fluid in your tissues by way of your kidneys). These will not cure glaucoma but will aid in controlling it.

Q — Does smoking aggravate glaucoma? Should one who has had an operation for glaucoma stop smoking?

A — Smoking would not have any effect on your glaucoma but you can find plenty of other reasons for giving up the habit.

Q — I have glaucoma in both eyes but my vision has not been impaired. My prescription says to put one drop in each eye but I always get much more in. Will this affect my vision? My pupils have become very small. Does this mean my vision is diminishing? My left eye hurts at times. Should I have it X-rayed?

A — Although it should be easy with a dropper to get just one drop in each eye, more will do no harm — it will just overflow and run down your cheek. The contraction of your pupils is the effect (and the main purpose) of the eye drops and not a sign of decreasing vision. Although an X-ray of your skull would not adversely affect your glaucoma, this is hardly the first step to be considered in trying to find the cause of a pain in your eye.

Chores For Tomorrow

DEAR POLLY — When friends come to our home they always compliment me on having such a neat and organized household even though I have two small children. I will let you all in on my secret which has now become a sort of game. At night when I sit down to watch television I get a pad and a pencil. During the evening as I think of what should be done the next day I write it down. Before going to bed I attach this list to the refrigerator door with a magnet.

The following day as each job is finished I cross it off the list. It is fun. Since I have been doing this I get more done and there is really no rush. RELAX, tomorrow is another day.—ELI-NORE

DEAR POLLY — My 84-year-old father came to stay at our home after he had been in the hospital. His fingers were too stiff to write letters so he spoke his letters into the tape recorder and then I typed them. This method affords him the pleasure of continuing his correspondence even though he can no longer write.—MRS. K. W.

East cashed two clubs while South followed suit. Out came a third club and South had a problem.

He pulled out the nine of trumps, thought a while and pushed it back. As he figured matters, West would overruff if he held the ten and the odds favored West holding that card. Then South thought a little more and finally ruffed with a high trump.

He continued by leading out trumps. East showed out on the second lead, whereupon South showed his hand and conceded a heart and a trump for down one.

South also stated that he had given the hand the best play when he ruffed high and that trumps never broke for him.

South was right about the fact that trumps had broken badly. He could not have been more wrong when he claimed to have made the best play.

There was no way for South to avoid losing a trick with his seven of hearts but he had the privilege of losing that trick at the right time and the right time to lose it was when East led that third club.

Had he discarded the seven instead of ruffing, he would have had no further problems. If East led anything but another club, South would win, draw trumps and claim the balance. If East led a fourth club, South would ruff in dummy with whichever card he had to play, draw trumps and claim.

Fretful Wife Sours Home

By Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"He just wants to enjoy his home, not fret about it."

That is how one wife of 30 years, Mrs. Art Linkletter, explains why she doesn't burden her husband with household problems.

The fact that she lets her husband "just enjoy his home" is one of the reasons Mrs. Linkletter recently gave in a newspaper interview for the fact that her marriage has lasted so long in the show business world that is often so rough on marriages.

"He wants to enjoy his home, not fret about it" is something every young wife just beginning her marriage should keep in mind. For on that score, all husbands are pretty much the same.

Of course, if a young wife has no household help and, in addition to doing all of her own work, she has young children to look after — she may have to have some help around the house from her husband. Also, needing some husbandly help is the young working wife who puts in the same office hours her husband does and has to do her housekeeping before and after "working hours and on weekends."

But even these young wives ought to remember the importance of not burdening their husbands with household problems any more than they have to.

They don't have to burden their husbands by continually fretting out loud over what has to be done or should be done. They don't have to complain about the things that have gone wrong during the day, or worry out loud about problems that there is no immediate solution for.

It isn't so much what a husband is called on to do around the house that makes his home a place to fret over — as a matter of his wife's attitude toward homemaking.

If to her homemaking is just one big headache for which she continually wants her husband's sympathy, then home isn't ever going to be a relaxing place for her husband.

But if she tackles her job with enthusiasm and makes light of her problems she can call on her husband for help now and then without causing him to feel that home is just one more thing to fret about.

Metropolitan Reports Assets Invested

Assets invested in Missouri by Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. amounted to $372.9 million at the end of 1965. It was announced today by Mr. John A. Mulrean, Agency Manager of the Company's Sedalia office.

Metropolitan Life's investments in Missouri contributed significantly to the demands for capital to finance industrial expansion and research, to help the needs of large and small businesses, and to spur the trend towards home ownership. Mr. Mulrean pointed out. For example, more than $174.6 million was invested in corporate securities of companies doing business in Missouri, and Metropolitan Life's mortgage loans in the state amounted to $130 million.

Leisure Is Threatening US Society

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP)—Leisure, not the nuclear bomb, probably represents the greatest threat to American civilization and it is up to the church to provide a counterforce, the youthful Presbyterian minister says.

He spoke quietly, thoughtfully. "No great civilization had leisure time even in small amount and survived," he said. "This changes the orientation of everybody in our society. We now learn how to make a living. This leisure will force us to learn how to make a life."

The voice belonged to the Rev. Thomas L. Jones, 35, of Atlanta, Ga. He has the job of finding ways to make religion a more relevant force in American life and leisure.

The Rev. Mr. Jones is secretary of a new agency of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., which recently held its general assembly at Montreat. The agency, the division of education and research for the Board of Church Extension, is developing a series of experimental programs.

These include a biracial and bilingual church in Miami, Fla.; placing ministers in a Washington high-rise apartment, a South Carolina trailer court and a vacation area; recruitment of voluntary, full-time workers, including college students and retired persons—a kind of church job corps.

"This is really an attempt to make the Christian faith relevant in today's world," the Rev. Mr. Jones said. "But it is not an attempt to destroy the institutional church. We will try to find new structures to relate to today's world."

The Rev. Mr. Jones was associate pastor of a Miami church before taking the job with the new denomination agency in January. The Church Board of Extension has approved spending $252,500 this year for 24 experimental ministers, as they are called.

One of the programs already under way is an effort to rebuild a church in a Miami neighborhood that has changed from predominantly white to predominantly Negro. The white membership of the church dissolved in 1964 and the building reverted to the denomination.

"That is an experiment in starting over," said the Rev. Mr. Jones.

Another experiment will aim at imaginative newspaper and television advertisements. These experiments, he said, result from the revolution of society and they gain impetus from the accompanying unrest and uncertainty that makes old methods and approaches unsatisfactory.

"The Church," he said, "has to get out of an island of isolation and communicate."

Detailed Explanation Of Decisions By A Manager

Eighth Straight Year

Celtics Proud Of Their Title

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics took pride in a tight defense today while reigning as National Basketball Association champions for an unprecedented eighth straight year.

"That was really the great way to do it," said Coach Red Auerbach as he moved into full-time duty as general manager after 20 years on the bench.

The Celtics gave Auerbach a title salute by edging the Los Angeles Lakers 95-93 with one of the most tenacious defenses in NBA history Thursday night in the decisive showdown of a best-of-7 series.

Cheered on by a sell-out crowd of 13,909, the legal capacity at Boston Garden, the Celtics built a 76-60 third period lead and held on as the Lakers rallied vainly in the final 90 seconds for eight straight points.

"We put up a good fight, but moral victories are no good," said Los Angeles Coach Fred Schaus, whose Lakers have failed to defeat the Celtics in five championship series.

Capt. Bill Russell, who has led Boston to nine NBA titles in 10 years, moved up to the rank of playing-coach in a blaze of glory.

The 6-foot-10 Russell, the first Negro to become coach of a major league club in any sport, scored 25 points and grabbed 32 rebounds. He also blocked several shots and triggered Boston's fast break attack.

The Celtics stormed to a 10-0 lead before LeRoy Ellis put Los Angeles on the scoreboard. Boston moved out to a 27-20 first period lead and widened the margin to 53-38 at halftime as the Lakers' top scorers, Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, were held to a total of three field goals.

Boston boosted its advantage to 19 points, 59-40, early in the third period before West and Baylor began finding the range.

Tigers Drop Loop Meet To Columbia

The Smith-Cotton Tigers varsity track team dropped a CEMO conference track meet to the Columbia Hickman Kewpies 70-48 in Columbia Thursday. The B-team also lost their encounter with the Kewpies by the score of 84-33.

The varsity Tigermen garnered five blue ribbons in the 14 events meet and a completely swept the discus event with Jim Lewellen, Ron Rees and Joe Lamy finishing in that order.

The two teams split the second place awards, with Smith-Cotton dominating the field events and Hickman the running activities.

In the mile run, Smith-Cotton's Jim Siron placed first with his teammate, Mike McCarty, right behind him to give Sedalia the first two places in that event. The Tigers also took first and second in the broad jump with Bob Blaylock and Buddy Turner bringing home the bacon from the sawdust pit.

In the B-team portion of the meet, Sedalia managed only two firsts but took seven seconds and eight thirds.

Results of the varsity meet: High hurdles — Turner, SC; Atwood, CH; Vaughan, SC, 16.5; 100-yard dash — Jackman, CH; Shamberger, CH; Depew, CH, 10.3.

So you want to be a manager...

Try and figure it the way Bobby Bragan of Atlanta did in his Braves 8-2 loss to the Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday night.

Here's the way Bragan manipulated the club:

In the second inning when the Dodgers erupted for five runs, Bragan not only changed pitchers, sending in Clay Carroll for Wade Blasingame, he also took out first-string first baseman Lee Thomas and sent outfielder Marty Keough in as Thomas' substitute.

Why? In the fifth inning, Bragan, now trailing 8-1, decided to lift first-string catcher Joe Torre, and sent outfielder Rico Carty behind the plate for the first time in his major league career.

Why? In the sixth inning, after using Carroll, Arnold Umbach and Chi Chi Olivo in relief, Bragan called for his No. 1 relief specialist, Billy O'Dell, with the game completely out of sight.

Just think along with Bragan: "I took out Torre because he couldn't see," said Bragan. "He's been bothered by a sinus infection. He struck out the first time and said, 'Let me give it one more try.' When he struck out again, I took him out."

"I used O'Dell because he has to pitch. He's only worked nine innings in 15 games. It was a choice between him and Phil Niekro, who throws a knuckler, so I went to O'Dell because it was Carty's first league game as a catcher."

And Keough for Thomas? By putting Keough in the lineup at the same time as Carroll, Bragan was able to juggle his batting order, getting Keough into the pitcher's spot. That enabled Keough to lead off the third inning instead of Carroll, who batted in Thomas' spot.

Meanwhile, Juan Marichal posted his fourth victory for San Francisco with a four-hit, 3-0 victory over Cincinnati, Pittsburgh outslugged the Chicago Cubs 9-6 in 10 innings and Houston defeated St. Louis 4-2. The New York Mets and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Don Drysdale got the victory for the Dodgers — his first after two losses — and more important went nine innings for the first time this season. Drysdale allowed six hits, including a homer and double by Hank Aaron, struck out 10 and did not walk a man.

Marichal, posting his fourth straight complete game victory, retired the first 16 men he faced before Leo Cardenas singled with one out in the sixth. Jim Hart singled twice and scored the first two runs for the Giants off Sammy Ellis before Jim Davenport wrapped it up with a homer.

Bill Mazeroski, who earlier had hit a homer and double, got the Pirates started in a four-run 10th with his second double, and scored the lead run on Bob Bailey's single. Manny Mota's double, Roberto Clemente's ground-er and Mota's steal of home on the front end of a double steal accounted for the other runs.

The Astros struck for three runs in the second inning on Jim Gentile's homer and two-run double by John Bateman. That was enough. The Cardinals drew within one run on homers by Julian Javier and Charlie Smith off Robin Roberts but Hal Woodeshick cut off the comeback.

For Spring Training

Tackle Situation Worries Devine, Not Quarterbacks

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Dan Devine wants to make this clear — quarterback isn't Missouri's biggest spring football problem, not at all. The tackle situation is his biggest worry.

Kansas coach Jack Mitchell is finding some good backfield talent in the freshman ranks and it's vital that his green backs come through.

Coach Eddie Crowder was pleased with Colorado's early work.

"This was the best opening spring scrimmage we've had since we've been here," said the normally cautious Colorado head man.

In the Big Eight, spring football is well past the mid-way point in most camps. Intra-squad games are set for May 7 at Missouri, Iowa State and Oklahoma State; and a varsity-alumni game at Colorado is scheduled the same day.

Kansas State ends spring work with its annual intra-squad game Saturday. Oklahoma's varsity beat the alumni 7-0 last Saturday, marking roughly the half-way point in Oklahoma practice.

Two things are evident in the spring training reports. Incoming sophomore talent is the equal of any in Big Eight history. Outstanding rookie backs are as numerous as ever and the crop of new linemen could be the best ever. Most teams will be improved.

Another factor is the influx of new assistants — particularly at Oklahoma, with a new staff headed by Jim Mackenzie, and at Oklahoma State with five new assistants under Phil Cutchin.

"The defense is ahead of the offense, just like most places," Cutchin said. "I'd say that our coaches are still ahead of the players, too. Seriously, I'm tickled pink with our new coaches. Our football's going to be different due to new and better ideas."

Cutchin is highly pleased with his squad's morale and attitude. Nebraska's defending champions are loaded again, of course. Among their problems are finding where to play Wayne Meylan, a potential All American. He's so good he can make it both ways at almost any interior line position.

Another indication at Nebraska is the status of 238-pound Bob Pickens, an Olympic wrestler drafted by the pros as a future last fall but still trying to make the club as an offensive tackle. His chances look good.

Gary Kombrink has been the No. 1 quarterback at Missouri all spring, with three others close. Devine had to switch guard Bill Powell to help at tackle. Most impressive back has been Barry Lischner, 220, running like an enraged bull at fullback.

Lischner has matured both physically and mentally," Devine said.

At K-State, Ossie Cain and Cornelius Davis, a 206-pound rookie, have come forward in the search for top running backs. Another top man from the frosh is split end Dave Jones an exceptional pass receiver.

Bob Douglass and speedy Don Shanklin, who had a 37-yard run in a recent scrimmage, are among the best rookies at Kansas. Mitchell is using Halley Kampshroeder at No. 1 quarterback and No. 2 split end.

"Last year I acted as a liaison man for two months between some good friends in the other league and our league on the possibility of a merger," said Davis. "I thought it was very close but their demands were just ridiculous. As a coach I was against it but I punched hard."

Davis, making his first appearance in New York since he took over from Joe Foss, who resigned two weeks ago, said the office would operate differently from now on.

"We have acted a little bit independently, like little outposts," Davis said. "I want to bring it together with one common object and goal. It will take two or three months to organize."

Larger Lakes Clear

State Streams Murky To Muddy

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) —

Most streams are murky to muddy but some are producing fishing success to the ones with know-how the Conservation Commission reported today. Larger lakes are providing the most clear water.

Considitions by region:

Northwest 8 Rivers in good condition: good for channel cat and carp. Lakes and ponds fair to good for bass and bluegill.

East central—Meramec, Bourbeuse and Big River murky to muddy and not expected to be fishable by weekend.

Central—Lower Osage good, good strings of crappie and white bass, other rivers muddy.

West central — Upper Osage dingy but yielding good strings of catfish and spoonbills, Pomme de Terre dingy above lake, clear below; Sac is muddy.

Southeast — Rivers high but fair for panfish.

Ozark — Current, Big Piney, Eleven Point and North Fork, murky to muddy; Jacks Fork off-color.

Southwest — James dingy to clearing; channel cat and bull-head fair to good upper portion, carp and panfish good lower end. Elk clear with goggle-eye good and channels fair.

Lakes

Bull Shoals—Some muddy water in upper arms but main body clear; black bass and crappie fair to good, white bass spotty.

Table Rock—Dingy in upper portions but main body clear; black bass and crappie good, channel cat fair to good and white bass poor to fair.

Taneycomo—Upper end clear, lower end clearing; trout fair to good.

Clearwater—Slightly murky, crappie best bet.

Wappapello—Dingy with crappie fair to good.

Norfork — Murky with black bass fair.

Pomme de Terre—Upper portion dingy, rest clear; black bass, crappie and white bass good, walleye fair.

Lake of the Ozarks — Upper arms dingy to murky, main body clear, crappie hitting well, black bass fair.

Hunnell and Little Dixie—Clear and black bass good.

Paho—Clear, black bass and bluegill good.

Swan Lake—Muddy, crappie hitting in spillway area, channel cat and bullhead good.

Fountain Grove—Muddy with bullhead and carp fair.

Thousand Hills — Off color, crappie good, bass and bluegill fair.

Jacom — Murky and black bass fair.

Montrose—Upper end murky, lower clear; black bass and crappie good, catfish fair.

Schell-Osage — Clear with crappie, black bass and bullhead fair.

Duck Creek—Clear and bluegill hitting well.

Trout areas—Maramee Spring Muddy, Bennett Spring, Roaring River and Montauk flush but clear, trout fishing fair to good.

Third Game Of Finals A Big One

DETROIT (AP) — Toe Blake smiled a bit and Sid Abel frowned.

Both admitted the third game of the Stanley Cup finals was a big one.

Obviously Blake was the winning coach. He saw his Montreal Canadiens spot the Detroit Red Wings an early first period goal and then charge back to win, 4-2.

"If we had lost this one we would have been down three games and in a real tough spot. But now we are on the upsurge," Blake said.

Norm Ullman scored the Red Wings' first goal before the game had gone five minutes and Gordie Howe got the last one with a second to go in the contest.

Abel actually was more concerned with the condition of defenseman Bert Marshall than with the loss of the game.

Marshall was slammed into the boards in the second period.

Ryun And Matson Are Headliners

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Jim Ryun of Kansas, America's premier miler, and Randy Matson of Texas A&M, the world's top shot putter, are the headliners in the venerable Drake Relays which open today.

Ryun is an odds-on bet to break the meet mile record in the special invitational Saturday. The freshman flash streaked to a 3:55.8 clocking last weekend in the Kansas Relays and is primed for another sub-four-minute effort. Tom O'Hara of Chicago Loyola set the Drake mark of 4:01 two years ago.

Matson goes after another Drake double, in the discus today and the shot put Saturday. He set meet marks in both last year—191 feet, 2 1/2 inches in the discus and 63-11 1/4 in the shot. The Texas strongboy's world mark in the latter is 70-7 1/4.

Some 1,000 athletes from 32 universities and 57 colleges will compete in the 57th edition of the Drake Relays. Experts predict at least 14, and perhaps as many as 25 meet records will be broken in the 29 major events.

CMC Doubleheader Is Split With Jays

The Smith-Cotton Tigers split a conference doubleheader with the Jefferson City Jays at Liberty Park Thursday, which saw the visitors forfeit the nightcap after refusing to undergo "razz-ing" by Sedalia fans. The score of the first game was 7-3 in favor of Jefferson City while the Tigers were leading 1-0 in the second game when the Jays decided to call it quits.

Mike Kraxberger was the loser for the Tigers in the first game with Green winning it for Jefferson City.

Mike Vansell was credited with the win in the second game while Wilhelm was tagged with the loss.

Next diamond action for the Tigers will take place May 6 at Columbia where the Tigers will battle the Hickman Kewpies in a CMC double header beginning at 5 p. m.

Ignorance And Prejudice Surround Foreign Visitors

EDITOR'S NOTE — U.S. reporters are not admitted to Red China. Frank Tuohy, a British author who is now an instructor at Waseda University in Japan, has just visited China. This is one of the uncensored articles he brought out.

By FRANK TUOHY

SHANGHAI (AP) — Frightening ignorance and prejudice about foreigners exist everywhere in China. It was one of the constant things I experienced on my first visit there.

Traditionally the Emperor of China believed that all foreigners had come to pay him tribute. In those days visitors were known as foreign devils; today they are called foreign friends.

Even today, when tourists from all Western countries except America are allowed in to the big cities, a foreigner is something of a surprise. Even the cars — nearly all cars are foreign, sometimes American or British, but mostly East European — provided by the tourist service attract crowds wherever they are parked. Mild but friendly stares of curiosity surround you until you soon become used to them. And children clap when they hear the words "foreign friends."

Whether friends or devils, foreigners still pose problems for the Chinese.

Referring to the unmentionable Russians, a Chinese lady told me, "We have lost our best friends." How, I wondered, can the welcome extended to foreign visitors be reconciled with the hate campaign which by now includes not only the U.S. imperialists but also the Khrushchev revisionists, the Castro revisionists, and other lackeys and flunkies too numerous to mention?

We were told that children learn to distinguish between the the mass of the books I leafed through was 1948.

Inside the schools and in the streets, posters still show Negroes, Westerners and Chinese, striding arm in arm toward a proletarian future. But word has gone round the new countries, a foreign diplomat told me, of the difficult life for embassy officials in Peking. African diplomats unlucky enough to be posted to China find themselves exiled for years and years, since no one at home wants to replace them. In Peking's only bar, on the sixth floor of the Hsin Chiao Hotel, Japanese, German and British businessmen play billiards. Peking evenings offer them nothing else.

"Foreigners? Western businessmen lie drunk in the corridors and ask for prostitutes," one female guide told me in a shocked voice. They don't, but one would sympathize if they did.

Policeman Returns After His Suspension

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A St. Petersburg policeman goes back to work today after a 15-day suspension for carving two notches in his service revolver.

William T. Dettlerline, 29, said he filed the notches after he winged two burglars last year, one in April at a bakery break-in and one in July at a supermarket.

Both men were running when Dettlerline shot, but neither was hurt seriously, he said.

Chief Harold C. Smith said the notches were discovered during a routine inspection and Dettlerline was suspended.

Bottled or canned foods
should be stored in a cool place as high storage temperatures lead to more rapid loss of vitamin content. Also the flavor deteriorates. Glass containers should be stored in the dark to avoid fading of the food colors. Acid foods may be used cold straight from the can. Heat nonacid foods thoroughly before eating.
It takes 20 minutes of boiling to destroy the botulism toxin.

Backache Sign of Nerve Irritation

The spine is the main structural beam of the body. It consists of 24 moveable segments called vertebrae. The spine rests upon the pelvis which is made up of three moveable bones; the hip bones and the sacrum.

Trillions of nerves pass from the brain, through the spine and out between the vertebrae. Injury can easily subluxate (misalign) these joints thus irritating the nerves passing out between them. The result is pain or backache in this region. Not only can pain be felt at the points of irritation, but also in the areas to which these impinged nerves lead. For example, a hip misalignment could cause pain in the legs and knees as well as in the lower back.

It is important to see a chiropractor as soon as possible if suffering with backache, as the affected nerve may also cause trouble in the organ to which it leads. The Chiropractor locates and removes the nerve interference by adjusting the misaligned bones and thus removes the nerve irritations.

GM, Others Violate Laws

Supreme Court Rules Sales Were Blocked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Thursday the General Motors Corp. and three dealer associations illegally blocked the sale of Chevrolets through discount houses in the Los Angeles area.

"We have here a classic conspiracy in restraint of trade," Justice Abe Fortas said in announcing the unanimous decision condemning the way the auto giant halted such sales in 1960 and 1961.

Signs Of Internal Struggle

'Discontent And Disillusionment' Among Population

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Secretary of State Lincoln Gordon said Thursday there are signs of an internal struggle within the Fidel Castro regime in Cuba and "growing discontent and disillusionment within the general population."

Gordon, whose province is inter-American affairs, indicated in an interview that only the "admittedly efficient, ubiquitous and ruthless state security apparatus utilized by Castro" is keeping down public anti-Castro manifestations.

He said the action of more than a third of a million Cubans in fleeing their homeland and registration of about one million more for refugee flights "bespeak in stark terms of the extent of the rejection of the Castro regime by the Cuban people."

Gordon said recent trials following a claim of the Havana regime of a plot on Prime Minister Castro's life, and purges of leading officials "certainly are surface indications of widespread tensions in Cuban leadership circles."

Other questions and answers: Q. What about persistent reports of medium-or long-range missiles in Cuba?

A. The intelligence community is confident that all strategic missiles introduced into Cuba were withdrawn in 1962 and that none has been reintroduced.

Q. But are there not a number of missiles of some sort in Cuba?

A. We are fully aware of the presence in Cuba of short-range surface-to-surface tactical missiles and surface-to-air missiles with an optimum, maximum range of less than 60 miles. They pose no external security threat to any of Cuba's neighbors.

Q. Have you received reports of Soviet submarines operating from Cuban ports?

A. We have absolutely no evidence to support reports of submarines based in or operating from Cuba.

Q. What methods does the United States employ to observe activities of that nature? Are U2 flights still used?

A. A variety of methods are employed. Since the October 1962 crisis, the United States has utilized surveillance over flights of the island. We continue to regard overflights as a necessity to avoid the deception which was practiced against us in 1962.

One Man Dies, One Is Injured In Crash

NEOSHO, Mo. (AP) — One man was killed and another injured Thursday in a three-car accident at the intersection of U.S. 71 and old Highway 60.

Killed was Henry C. Martin, 54, of Joplin, Mo., driver of one of the cars. Another driver, Virgil Felix Naramore, 59, of Goodman, Mo., was reported in serious condition at a Neosho hospital.

The Highway Patrol said a car driven by Mrs. Elizabeth A. Edmondson, 64, of Cassville, Mo., struck the side of the Naramore car, traveling north on 71. The impact caused the Naramore to collide head-on with the Martin car, which was going south on 71.

Refit Canadian Ship

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's aircraft carrier Bonaventure, based at Halifax, is to be refitted at a cost of about $8 million, Parliament was told this week.

The ruling was a victory for the Justice Department, which brought civil suit against GM and the three associations under the Sherman Antitrust Act, and appears to clear the way for widespread resumption of the discount sales.

The high court passed no judgment on the validity of GM dealer selling agreements, cited by General Motors to justify its actions and attacked by the Justice Department.

The "location clause" in these agreements prohibits dealers from moving to new locations without Chevrolet's written approval. This, in essence, GM argued, is what several dealers in the Los Angeles area did in selling cars through discount houses.

Significantly, Justice John M. Harlan said in a separate opinion concurring in the court's ruling, "In my opinion . . . General Motors is not precluded from enforcing the location clause by unilateral action, and I find nothing in the court's opinion to the contrary."

In Detroit, officials of the company reserved comment until they have studied the high court's ruling.

The decision reversed a ruling by U.S. Dist. Judge Charles H. Carr of Los Angeles. He had dismissed the government's suit on the ground there was no combination or conspiracy in violation of antitrust law.

Earlier, U.S. Dist. Judge Thurmond Clarke acquitted GM of criminal antitrust charges. The government did not appeal this ruling.

In 1957, a number of Chevrolet dealers in the Los Angeles area began selling new cars through discount houses and referral services.

There were several variations. In one arrangement the discounter referred the customer to the dealer, who would offer the car at a price previously agreed upon between the dealer and the discounter. In another, the discounter negotiated the sale.

The government estimated that by 1960 about 2,000 cars, or 2 per cent of the Chevrolet sales in the area, were sold this way. "Dealers lost sales," Fortas said, "because potential customers received, or thought they would receive, a more attractive deal from a discounter (Please turn to Page 8, Col. 1)

May Have More Fallout

Nuclear Blast Is Readied By China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China is preparing a third nuclear explosion which "may be larger and may produce greater radioactive fallout" than her previous two Hiroshima-size blasts, the State Department reported Thursday.

The statement by press officer Robert J. McCloskey left open a possibility that it could be a thermonuclear explosion of hydrogen-bomb type.

But most Washington experts figure Peking has not yet progressed that far in its nuclear development. And even with a hydrogen device, McCloskey said, there would still be a long period of development to have a deliverable thermonuclear weapon.

Communist China on Oct. 6, 1964, exploded a bomb having a force equivalent to 20,000 tons of TNT—about the size of the first U.S. atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima, Japan, in World War II. The second Chinese shot last May 14 was reported slightly larger.

McCloskey declined to predict the exact date of the next explosion, expected within a few weeks, or to estimate how much

Set About Destroying Them

US Troops Find 30 Large Caches Of Cong Supplies

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. troops probing for jungle terminals of the Ho Chi Minh trail near the Cambodian frontier have turned up 30 large caches of Viet Cong supplies, one of the richest ever unearthed in Viet Nam. They were destroying them Thursday.

Abandoned in the face of an advance by the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and an allied Vietnamese division about 70 miles northwest of Saigon were hundreds of tons of rice, salt, cooking oil and sheet tin. The troops seized 800 black cotton uniforms, enough to clothe two battalions, plus bales of plastic material for ponchos.

American fighters ranged again over North Viet Nam but there was no word of fresh contact with the enemy planes. An antiaircraft missile site was reported set aflame in one of 80 missions flown Wednesday by Air Force and Navy pilots, largely in the 140-mile stretch between the border and Vinh.

A U.S. spokesman said the Communists fired two missiles at F4C Phantoms, but the supersonic jets evaded them. Viet Cong efforts to avoid allied task forces were reflected in a drop in allied casualties last week, but the toll among the guerrillas — including that leveled by air strikes and naval guns — was reported even higher than the week before.

Briefing officers announced 35 Americans were killed, 547 wounded and eight missing or captured, compared with 89 killed, 635 wounded and five missing in the week of April 10-16. The death rate was the lowest since 21 were killed in action in the week of Jan. 16-22.

On the basis of Pentagon figures, U.S. military personnel killed in action or dying of wounds since Jan. 1, 1961, totaled 3,082.

Over-all, 160 of the allies died in combat last week, compared to 233 the week before. Viet

Committee Finds Lost Aircraft

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee Thursday located a missing aircraft.

Tucked away in the appropriations for the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development Commission was a $42,000 item for a new twin-engine aircraft.

When first asked a week ago if the purchase had been approved, Sen. J. F. Patterson, D-Caruthersville, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said it had not been.

It was learned by the Associated Press, however, that the item had been overlooked. It was the express intention of the senate committee to delete it, Patterson said.

"If it wasn't taken out," he said, "it will be."

When asked if a conference committee could delete it now, after both houses approved it, Patterson said, "I wish you wouldn't have asked that question."

The commerce division wants to trade in its single-engine plane on the new two-prop aircraft because, according to Director Henry C. Maddox, the division's industrial development program is suffering.

Representatives of prospective industry have refused to fly in the single engine plane, he said, to inspect available sites around the state.

In many instances, company policy forbids officials from flying in one-engine planes.

Maddox recently received a letter from one such representative, a retired Air Force officer, who urged the division provide better, safer transportation.

"I would hate to see all your excellent client pre-preparations go to waste," he said. "When an industrial client arrives and then perhaps refuses to go any further."

He suggested the light plane puts Missouri under a psychological handicap.

There seemed to be some confusion regarding Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' opinion on the new airplane.

In early budget discussions, Patterson said, it was expressly stated that the item be deleted. Apparently it was restored later.

It was still on the approved budget Thursday.

The conference committee report on the state's billion dollar-plus budget is due Monday.

Volcano Threatens Populated Section

Thirteen Deaths Are Reported; More Seen

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Streams of lava from an explosive eruption of Mt. Kelut volcano bore down Thursday on a densely populated area of East Java, and a major disaster threatened, reports from the scene said.

Thirteen deaths were reported, but the toll was expected to climb as communications with the stricken area were re-established.

The streams of lava were reported approaching the outskirts of Blitar, a heavily populated trading center 70 miles southwest of Surabaya. Communication to Blitar were out.

At least seven other villages, each with population of several thousand persons were said to be in the path of the lava. In all, about 500,000 person live in the threatened area.

The Indonesian news agency Antara said the 5,678-foot-high volcano erupted Monday night and a nearby village was demolished almost at once.

First word of the eruption did not reach Jakarta until two days later. Civil defense officials still had few details and few plans were made for going to the aid of victims.

The chief civil defense director, Col. Sudiono, said he thought it unlikely there were many casualties since a warning of a possible eruption had been issued a month ago.

The eruption was expected, he said, because white goats grazing on the slopes of Mt. Kelut had left for lower pasture.

This was better than any fancy geological instrument, he said.

Repair Shop Burns; Owner Dies In Street

SPARKS, Kan. (AP) — A trash fire that got out of hand destroyed an automobile repair shop Thursday, and the owner collapsed and died in the street after helping push three or four cars out of the place.

The proprietor, Robert Dawe, about 65, apparently had a heart attack. Dawe had a heart condition, Sheriff Clyde Blanton said.

Cars in the garage were moved out and saved.

The fire spread to a shed in back and enveloped the shop by the time firemen from Highland, Center Township at Troy, Elwood and Robinson arrived. The Sparks grade school, across an alley from the shop, was evacuated and firemen wet the roof down. Sparks has no fire department.

Panel Votes Increase For Plans

Omnibus Money Measure Knocked Out In Defiance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Risking the wrath of President Johnson, the House Appropriations Committee on Thursday voted $489,213,000 more than the administration requested for health and education programs.

In further defiance of the White House, the committee knocked out of an omnibus money measure the entire $31,372,000 the President wanted for the new national teacher corps.

The committee's action was described by Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., as "an invitation for a tax increase."

It came on a bill appropriating $10,555,342,500 to finance the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the fiscal year starting July 1. The President had asked for $10,066,129,500 and had proposed cuts in education and public health programs.

The committee's action was another in a series of budget-busting moves which only Wednesday drew the President's criticism.

There is little likelihood the House will veto the committee's recommendations when it considers the money bill next Wednesday.

The committee's biggest rupture of the budget lines in the pending bill was the allotment of $416.2 million for payments to school districts having heavy concentrations of federal civilian and military employees. The President asked for $183.4 million and proposed a change in the payment formula to scale down the cost.

An Appropriations subcommittee headed by Rep. John E. Fogarty, D-R.I., had recommended $183.4 million for the school payments but the full committee boosted the amount by a vote of 29-14 on the motion of Rep. Winfield K. Denton, D-Ind.

A 25-15 vote on a motion by Rep. Robert B. Duncan, D-Ore., knocked out the $20 million voted by the subcommittee for the teacher corps.

Attempts to cut allotments for vocational education and national health institutes to bring them more in line with the President's budget lost by one-sided votes.

Seven Die In Floods In Texas

Hundreds Forced Out Of Homes; Roadways Covered

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A cloudburst struck the Dallas area before dawn Thursday, drowning at least seven persons, flooding expressways and forcing hundreds of persons from their homes. Two persons are missing and presumed drowned.

Four victims died when their automobiles either plunged off washed-out bridges or were swept from roadways by swift, high water.

Police Capt. Frank Dyson said the flooding was the worst since levees were installed on the nearby Trinity River in the 1930s.

Power failed in various sections of the city of 750,000 and scores of flooded streets turned rush-hour traffic into a chaotic snarl.

One of the dead was identified as W. L. Perryman, 44, president of General American Oil Co.

The thunderstorm loosed rains of more than four inches on the city, which was already water-logged from six inches of precipitation the previous five days.

Runoff from the Dallas deluge was expected to add to the troubles of points east and south of the city, where rains of up to 22 inches since Friday continued to force residents from their homes. Several hundred have been evacuated.

Firemen in rescue boats plucked so many people from rising water "we couldn't count them all," dispatcher Pete Rollins said.

"They were hanging from trees, cars and anything they could grab," he said.

An elderly caretaker was found in a closet with water up to his neck. He said he had been standing on the front steps when a surge of water swept him back inside.

Perryman, president of an independent oil-producing firm that operates in six states and Canada, died when his heavy automobile ran into a bridge washout.

A woman passenger in Perryman's car was rescued when firemen chopped through the back window with an ax.

Old City Radio Tower Comes Down

Under watchful eyes of sidewalk superintendents, the radio tower and antenna which served the Sedalia Police and Fire Departments for 26 years made room for a newer model Thursday morning.

The 130 foot structure was dismantled Thursday, and police and fire department units are using a local emergency antenna until the new tower and antenna are erected, sometime Friday. Calls to Highway Patrol headquarters in Lee's Summit will be channeled through Pettis County Sheriff's Department radio unit Chief William E. Miller said. No hindrance to local operations is anticipated in the interim, he said.

Construction and erection of the new tower and antenna will cost about $514, Miller said.

Sen. Long Undergoes Surgery Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., underwent an operation in Walter Reed Army Hospital Thursday for removal of his tonsils and for other surgery described as minor.

Doctors advised Long's office shortly before noon that the operation was performed satisfactorily and that Long was "doing well."

Clincher Is Morning Sleep

For a moment last week we thought the proposal for adoption of daylight saving time in Sedalia was going to have smooth sailing. This seemed apparent when business men circulating petitions for it reported that about 75 percent of the people contacted favored the change, 10 to 15 percent were indifferent and the others opposed.

Take another reading, say other business men starting their own petitions to keep Sedalia on standard time.

So, again the community is right smack dab in the middle of another "issue." By definition this means we are confronted with a controversy on which the parties take affirmative and negative positions. Sounds familiar!

That's the old democratic spirit which so many people think is dead in this country.

Already the petitioners on both sides who planned to present this problem to the new city council are unsure whether that governmental body has the legal right to tinker with time.

Pages of law books are being flipped in advance of the ceremony of presenting council a hot potato right at a time when the new members were hoping administration waters would be placid for a spell: that no emergency legislation would bedevil them like last May's cable television.

But neophyte councilmen must sooner or later face the firing line on one issue or another. The current one on daylight time ought not to be too hazardous but it will require firm judgment concerning the initial complaint of oppositionists. They assert daylight time "first would cause the people to lose so much sleep in the morning because in the summertime the nights are hot and the best time to sleep is early in the morning for the people that work. This one hour rest would mean a lot to the working people."

Now there's a clincher argument! And we'll bet it doesn't get by city council without studied thought. No councilman can effectively elude the poetic accusation, "They have driven sleep from my eyes away."

One escape from the problem of "to have or not to have" daylight saving time for Sedalia is to keep the argument going until Sunday, October 30. Ho hum!

Looking Backward

WALL STREET JOURNAL: Smoking Jitters.—A young man we know who is not old enough to smoke but old enough to read the newspapers says he is a little confused about whose side of the cigarette-smoking-and-health controversy the Government is really on.

It's plain from cigarette sales figures, our friend reasons, that the cigarette-smoking-may-be-hazardous-to-your-health warning printed on every pack now sold hasn't cut down on smoking. However, a cigarette price increase, he says, is something that gives smokers pause, at least for a while.

And yet when cigarette makers the other day announced a wholesale price boost costing the smoker an added cent a pack at retail, President Johnson persuaded the biggest firm of them to roll back the increase. Is it true, asks the young man, that the White House thinks inflation is a greater peril than cigarette smoking?

What, he wants to know, does the Surgeon General think about this? Why did the President get so steamed up about a penny increase in the price of a luxury like tobacco? What is he going to do about those brewers who have raised the price of beer about a cent a bottle?

It would be nice if young people wouldn't ask so many questions.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Agitators In Mexico Caught Off Base

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — Left wing agitators who would have relished the chance to demonstrate against President Johnson in Mexico City were caught completely off base by the government strategy of delaying any announcement of his trip.

Here are some of the backstage details on how the trip was organized and executed: Real fact is that Johnson's "surprise" visit was set up more than a week before the public knew it.

It was on April 6 that Johnson accepted President Diaz Ordaz's invitation, but it was agreed to hold off any public announcement until April 12, just before Johnson's arrival. A certain amount of time was needed for telephone workers to install the direct lines to Washington that the President would require, for city employees to put up the banners, posters, signs and flags, and to work out details between the American and Mexican secret services.

So a 48-hour advance notice time was agreed on. Air Force One, bringing the first family and the rest of the official party, was due to land in Mexico City at 5:30 p.m. on April 14. On April 12, the Texas White House put out a press release disclosing the President's "sudden" decision to accompany Lady Bird and the others.

Leftists Surprised
The timing was perfect. Mexican leftist leaders held a hasty meeting that evening, with Vicente Lombardo Toledano presiding, at the headquarters of his red-lining Popular Socialist Party.

Discussion about the possibility of mounting a Viet Nam war protest parade during Johnson's stay was heated. Representatives of Mexico's minuscule Communist Party were all for it.

But Lombardo, a wily realist with half a century of experience as a political agitator, argued that anything less than a massive demonstration — which couldn't be put together in a day and a half — would be broken up before it could even attract attention. There would be nothing but cracked heads and unpublicized arrests to show for it.

His counsel prevailed, and the Socialist Party issued a bland statement commending the visit as "an opportunity for useful contact between heads of state" and calling on its followers to refrain from any show of hostility.

Meanwhile, Mexican authorities did a terrific job of organization. By the time the U. S. delegation arrived, all Mexico City — now, with more than 6,000,000 inhabitants, the second largest metropolis in the Western hemisphere — was decked in gala garb.

So smoothly efficient were all the arrangements that not a single Snafu or untoward incident developed during the President's stay.

He and Diaz Ordaz took two hours and 30 minutes to drive the seven and a half miles from the airport to Los Pinos, Mexico's White House, chiefly because they stopped frequently to shake hands with part of the 2,000,000 cheering people lining the route.

Barry Goldwater Welcomes
Barry Goldwater had been in Mexico City a day and a half when Johnson's visit was announced. A few hours before he arrived, Goldwater addressed students at the International University of the Americas just outside the capital and was asked: "If you were President, what would you be doing now in Viet Nam?"

"Isn't that what President Johnson is coming down here to ask me?" shot back Goldwater.

The GOP leader was present at both the Lincoln statue unveiling ceremony in a Mexico City park and at Lady Bird's formal reception in the American Embassy. He and LBJ did not, however, meet.

Boeing Wives Hear Talk On Boys Ranch

The Boeing wives met on April 20 for a luncheon at LeRoy's Steak House. The guest speaker was Mr. Robert Thomas Butterfield, from Butterfield Boys Ranch in Marshall. Mr. Butterfield spoke on the organization and purpose of the ranch. The group was extremely interested in Mr. Butterfield's talk due to the fact they had chosen the Boy's Ranch as their charity project for six months.

Floral arrangements were compliments of: Archias Floral Co., Pfeiffer's Flower Shop, Michael-Jackson Florist and State Fair Floral Co. The flowers were given as door prizes.

Members of the Thompson Hills Merchants Association also donated door prizes. The merchants participating were: Consumers Market, Tempo, Lee's Shoe Store, T G & Y, Lore's Gift Shop, The Mall Dress Shop, The Colonial Shop, Katz and Gold Cafeteria.

Co-chairmen for the event were Mrs. Roy Berg and Mrs. Robert Koehn. Others serving on the committee were: Mrs. Ross Clemenson, Mrs. Robert Ficklen, Mrs. Robert Gilbert, Mrs. William Kowal, Mrs. Lou Larsen, Mrs. Robert Singer and Mrs. Calvin Stahl.

The group will meet again on May 18. Mrs. Edward Doyle will be in charge of the next luncheon. All Boeing wives and subcontractors wives are invited to attend.

Grandma and Grandpa

Grandma and Grandpa worked real hard
To keep their family, home and yard.
They had their gardens and their flowers
In which they spent so many hours;
Now Grandpa simply planted seeds
And with a hoe kept down the weeds
He picked the bugs off his potatoes
And plucked green worms off of tomatoes.
Flowers grew each year in a round bed
And in a border 'round the shed.
The trees had fruit every season —
Just why we do not know the reason.
For you know way back in that day
There wasn't such a thing as spray —
Now Grandpa had a job, too.
And his was real hard work to do.
His day was long — ten hours or so —
No daylight savings did he know.
Six days a week — and no vacation —
How did he get his relaxation?
And Grandpa cooked on old iron stoves
Made her bread in great big loaves.
Carried the water to put in a tub
And on a board her wash she'd scrub.
Ironed tablecloths, sheets and all the clothes
Sewed on patches, darned their hose.
Does anybody ever wonder how
When folks can't find time to do things now?
Perhaps it's things they didn't own
Like an automobile and a telephone.
Poor Grandpa and Grandma—what a pity—
They belonged to no clubs—no committee—
The kids had chores at the end of the day
And vacant lots and streets to play.
No planned activities—except at church now and then—
Life sure was dull a way back when—
The dogs ran loose and nobody cared
Yet, somehow the flowers and gardens were spared.
No veterinary—no special chow.
They lived on people's food, somehow—
The weather got hot—folks would work and sweat
But weren't disturbed enough to fret.
We don't enjoy life now we're in a big hurry
So many appointments we have to keep
When we go to bed we just can't sleep.
We think about diets and things like that
Afraid to be healthy for fear we'll get fat.
But the years will come and we'll all slow down
And so many things about which to worry.
When we will watch the fast sinking sun
And somehow we'll find they still have a town.
Will anyone think our job as well done?
Poor Grandma and Grandpa in their ignorant bliss
Just couldn't have had it as hectic as this.

Help for Brain-Injured

By Susan Light
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LIGHT: I am very concerned about the letter signed "Suffering Parents." Our story could so easily have come out that way. Our son was having a hard time in school, disrupting the class and not working up to his seeming capacity. Psychiatrists told us he was completely normal. We, too, had an electroencephalograph with normal results. But did you know this is not conclusive? The school psychologist finally determined there must be brain injury. A child neurologist confirmed a minimal brain injury, which manifests itself primarily in difficulties in school and emotional problems.

He showed no progress until a countywide program was instituted to put children with brain injury in a separate class with specially trained teachers. These children really have a great perceptual handicap, and special teaching techniques are needed to make the most of the uninjured areas of the brain and retrain other portions of it. After a year our son is making good progress and gaining much-needed self-confidence.

I am enclosing a pamphlet from a new organization called New York Association for Brain-Injured Children, which was started by parents of such children. It explains some of the symptoms and difficulties involved. A wonderful book every educator should read is "Helping the Brain-Injured Child" by Ernest Siegel. It costs $3.50 and can be obtained from this association at 305 Broadway, New York, N. Y. 10007.

We hope responsible people will begin to recognize the problem and all children in the country can have the help ours is receiving. — THANKFUL PARENTS

ANSWER: I hope so, too. Thank you so much for sharing your experience with us. It may bring new hope and a plan for positive action to many parents who don't know which way to turn next. According to the pamphlet, the New York Association for Brain-Injured Children is concerned with the furthering of educational opportunities for those children who have perceptual or conceptual difficulties accompanied by behavior problems such as distractibility, poor concentration, disinhibition, perseveration and hyperactivity.

A word of caution: These characteristics may be found to some degree in any normal child. Parents should never jump to conclusions but seek professional counsel when serious school problems persist.

Q's and A's On Tax Matters

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—My brother-in-law filed his return a week after I did and has already received his refund. Mine hasn't come yet. Why?

A—A number of reasons are possible. Your return might have been incomplete or incorrect and is therefore in the process of being perfected. This would be the case if, for example, you did not list your Social Security number or entered an inaccurate one.

Another possible reason for the delay in your refund is that it might have been selected for a pre-refund audit. Some returns are audited before the refund is issued while others are audited after the refund has been sent.

You should receive your refund check, or a letter about it, within six to eight weeks after you filed.

Q—When do you start withholding at the new rates?

A—Graduated withholding goes into effect on wage payments made on and after May 1. To see how it will affect you, ask your employer for a copy of our Document No. 5642.

Q—I forgot to enclose one of the Schedules required as part of my return. What should I do?

A—Please hold it until you are contacted. You will be asked to supply this Schedule and any other information needed to process your return.

Q—I forgot to claim my mother's medical expenses when I filed my return. Is it still possible to claim it or have I lost this deduction?

A—You may still claim whatever deduction you are entitled to for 1965. Take another Form 1040 for 1965 and mark it "amended return" at the top. Then fill it in completely, showing all the information required as well as the deduction you omitted on your other return. File your amended return as soon as possible.

Q—I have to pay my former wife $50 a week. Half of that goes for the support of our daughter. Can I deduct the $50?

A—The portion of the payment designated in the divorce

Hughesville Trail Riders Hold Event

Northwest Trail Riders met in Hughesville Sunday afternoon, April 17, for a trail ride, which was led by the president, Noah Killian and Mrs. Killian driving a pair of sorrell show mules with a show wagon filled with 20 children.

Following were 31 members on horses.

The trail led from Hughesville through fields toward Houstonia to the Killian Roadside Park where a wiener roast was held.

The next ride will be at Roy Anderson's farm on Sunday afternoon, May 22.

decree as alimony may be deducted. When you itemize deductions you may not deduct that portion of your payment that is designated as child support. In your case this would be $25 a week. Your wife should report the $25 weekly alimony as income.

The $25 child support payment is not deductible by you or taxable to your wife. However, if this amount provided more than half your child's support for the year then you are entitled to claim a $600 exemption for her if she meets all the requirements of a claimed dependent. These requirements are listed on page 4 of the 1040 instructions.

GENE AUTRY, Okla. — An American Flyers Airlines Electra crashed Friday night while attempting a landing at nearby Ardmore, Okla., airport, killing 81 persons. The plane, chartered by the Army, was transporting recruits from California to Georgia when the crash occurred. There were 75 recruits on the plane. There are 17 survivors. (UPI)

Investigators Comb Wreckage For Clues To Cause Of Crash Of Plane

Only 17 Of 98 People Survive; Recruits Die

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) — Federal investigators late Saturday combed the wreckage of a chartered airliner which crashed into a southern Oklahoma mountainside, killing 81 persons, including 75 army recruits.

Only 17 of the 98 persons aboard the plane survived.

The probers hoped to find the answer in recorded conversations of the pilot and undamaged instruments taken from the charred remains of the four-engine Lockheed Electra turbo-prop.

"It's certainly too early to make any intelligent analysis of what might have caused the crash," said Edward Slattery, an information officer for the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The plane, an American Flyers military charter, was preparing for a fuel stop at nearby Gene Autry Airport when it overshot a converted World War II airbase runway and crashed in the foothills of the rugged Arbuckle Mountains of southern Oklahoma.

The plane was on a flight from Ft. Ord, Calif., to Ft. Benning, Ga., and its 92 passengers were Army recruits who had recently completed basic training.

The other six victims were crew members, including pilot Reed Pigman, 59, Fort Worth, Tex., founder, owner and president of the airline.

Pigman apparently chose to handle the flight personally to help relieve a manpower shortage.

The aircraft struck the base of a hill, skidded about 400 yards and burst into flames. Wreckage was strewn over a two-mile area. Several head of cattle feeding in the area were killed. The body of one of the victims was found in a tree.

Seventeen survivors were hospitalized, most of them in critical condition. Another survivor died later in an Ardmore hospital.

The plane came down on the W. R. Goddard ranch, about 16 miles northeast of Ardmore.

Ranch hand O. B. Talkington, one of the first to reach the scene, said:

"I'd never seen anything like this before. People were scattered everywhere. There were dead. There were people begging for help. The ones I helped were not in the plane. They were scattered around it."

Clyde A. Swafford

Swafford Is New Liquor Inspector

Clyde A. Swafford, lessor of the Standard Oil Co., super station, Broadway and Limit, has been appointed liquor inspector for this area for the State Liquor Control Department. Swafford is to succeed Harold Juerg, Cole Camp, who has served in this capacity for this area for the past 24½ years.

Swafford, a native of Excelsior Springs, came to Sedalia, Dec. 19, 1939, taking over the operation of the old Standard Service Station at Fourth and Osage, operating there until the new station was built about 1958 on West Broadway. He then took over the larger and more efficient operation. He has served Sedalia as a member of the City Council and is active in civic affairs.

His appointment was announced this past week by Gen. Glennon T. Moran, supervisor of the State Liquor Control Department. He is to report to the department headquarters in Jefferson City on May 2 for a week of training after which he will return to Sedalia and assume his duties.

Winners Are Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven young people working in anti-poverty programs have been named winners of Sargent Shriver scholarships by the Experiment in International Living and each will spend two months in a foreign country, it was announced Saturday.

Winners include: Robert Jones, 22, of St. Louis, Mo., community action worker, to go to Pakistan.

Mauled In 48-Hour Battle

Communist Regiment Slips From Allied Trap, Escapes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Communist regiment mauled by U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops through a 48-hour battle in the Quang Ngai sector slipped from the allied trap Saturday and escaped into central highland jungles.

A U.S. spokesman's announcement Friday that the troops and supporting planes and artillery had killed 257 of the Red enemy was scaled down on a recheck to 220. Allied losses again were termed light.

Ebbing of the spring's heaviest ground battle coincided with the rise of a threat to the precarious political peace that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime obtained by promising the Buddhist hierarchy to hold an election this summer to restore civilian rule.

Roman Catholic refugees and the Saigon Student Union called for pro-government street demonstrations here Sunday. That could stir up a violent reaction from the Buddhists, quiet lately even in such dissident hotbeds as Hue and Da Nang.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has called the election due to be held in three to five months, an untold path for the Vietnamese. He said in a taped CBS television interview Friday the political turmoil has affected the military effort against the Communists and set back the drive for economic reconstruction.

"But I believe the time lost can be regained," he added.

Regained for the aerial war were 18,000 bombs which a Defense Department spokesman in Washington said were collected from six allies that receive U.S. military aid. Without naming these nations, he said the United States bought back or otherwise reacquired the bombs this year.

U.S. air sorties against the Viet Cong have fallen below the earlier daily average of 450-500 and American sources here have attributed this to a shortage of bombs and other ordnance. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has denied such a shortage, calling the reports "baloney."

James Buckley Files For Democratic Seat

James Buckley, 804 Ruth Ann, filed Friday for the Democratic nomination for the office of State Representative from the newly reapportioned district 115. Buckley is Pettis County's assistant prosecuting attorney, in addition to his private law practice. He is president of the Pettis County Bar Association. He is also a member of Kiwanis Club.

He is a life-long resident of Pettis County and is a graduate of the University of Missouri School of Law.

A spokesman said pilots spotted five of North Viet Nam's Soviet-built surface to air missiles in flight, but evaded all of them. Capt. James R. Mitchell, 36, Ogden, Utah, saw three. He said two whizzed aloft without exploding and the other went off about 350 feet above his Thunderchief.

Newspapers Publish Last Editions

NEW YORK (AP) — The Journal-American and the World Telegram and Sun published their final separate afternoon editions Saturday, their plans to publish under a merger with the morning Herald Tribune stymied by a labor dispute.

The World Telegram printed an optimistic final editorial entitled "Not Goodbye," but there was gloom as reporters left the city rooms, still unsure who would have a job.

Negotiations continued, but all sides agreed the city faces a partial newspaper blackout Monday, for the third time in less than four years. Mayor John V. Lindsay, who failed to get the merger postponed, was keeping in touch.

Ten unions, dissatisfied with the way the merged firm plans to cut 2,000 workers from payrolls totalling 5,700, have set a strike for 4 p.m. Sunday.

That will give the Journal-American and the Herald Tribune time to print final separate Sunday editions. The following week they planned to be merged as the Sunday World Journal Tribune.

There was little chance that the morning Tribune or the new evening World Journal will appear Monday. Even with a weekend settlement, preparatory work is too long delayed already.

The New York Publisher's Association called a meeting for noon Sunday to decide whether their members would continue publishing if a strike is called. The Times and the Daily News, both morning papers and members of the Publishers Association, might shut down in sympathy. The fifth Manhattan daily, the Post, was expected to publish as usual. The Post left the association during the 125-day strike in 1962-63, and published during the 25-day shutdown of 1965.

The World Telegram's final editorial said the labor dispute jeopardized the merger, which it described as a question of "adapt or perish."

It called the reduction in work force a "painful necessity" and said cushioning the shock was "uppermost in our minds."

However, Bertram A. Powers, head of the local printers union, accused the publishers of forcing a strike in hopes of achieving a smaller settlement.

The printers, who lose 400 of 900 jobs, demand severance beyond the maximum of three weeks' pay provided by their current contracts. The publishers say they may give some more, but have not said how much.

The Newspaper Guild, which would lose half of 1,800 jobs, demands that the most senior editorial workers be retained by the merged firm. The Herald Tribune insists that its staff be considered separately.

Farm Bureau Head Is Patient In Columbia

Olen Monsees, Jefferson City, president of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, underwent surgery for removal of a brain tumor at the University of Missouri Medical Center, April 5. He was admitted to the center March 29.

The Center reported that Monsees' post-operative course had been satisfactory but that his general condition was serious.

Monsees, 60, has been president of the Farm Bureau since 1958. He owns a dairy operation east of Sedalia.

Propaganda Bonanza Seen

Soviet Union Promises To Aid Syria In Dam Project

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has promised aid to the new leftist regime in Syria that could become another Soviet propaganda bonanza in the Middle East such as the Aswan Dam in Egypt. This one: a huge dam on the Biblical Euphrates River.

An aid agreement was signed here Friday by Premier Youssef Zayyen of Syria and details of it were made known Saturday by a Syrian Embassy spokesman.

Before leaving for Leningrad Zayyen met with Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and an announcement later said Syria was taking steps to "advance along the road toward socialism." In Soviet terms this means moving eventually toward communism.

The embassy spokesman said Friday's agreement was a protocol promising Soviet aid for the biggest economic project in Syria, the Euphrates Dam in northeastern Syria.

Like the Aswan Dam in Egypt, the Euphrates Dam was to be financed by the West. In both cases the Arab states turned to the Soviet Union after difficulties arose with Western backers.

West Germany was to have financed the Euphrates Dam but talks bogged down in technical difficulties. The project was dropped last year when West Germany gave diplomatic recognition to Israel.

The spokesman here refused to disclose the sum of Soviet aid promised for the dam. Government-controlled newspapers in Damascus said the Russians would put up $150 million to finance foreign exchange costs of the dam's first stage. Total cost of the first stage is reported to be $250 million.

The dam is designed to irrigate 1.5 million acres of land and provide electric power to start building heavy industry. Official estimates in Syria say it will provide a $200 million increase in Syria's annual income.

The Syrian Embassy spokesman said the next step in the program probably would be meetings of technical experts in Moscow or in Damascus to work out details.

Homer L'Hote

700 Members Attend State K of C Meet

Seven hundred members of the Missouri State Council of the Knights of Columbus are in Sedalia to attend the 65th annual convention of the Catholic fraternal organization which began Friday and ends today at 1 o'clock. Homer J. L'Hote, was re-elected state deputy on Saturday afternoon.

L'Hote said Saturday, "The Missouri State Council of Knights of Columbus are delighted to again have our state convention in Sedalia. This is the second state convention of the Missouri State Council held here in the last six years which is a testimony to the high regard the Knights of Columbus have for this fine city."

Commenting on the size of the organization nationally L'Hote said, "There are presently a million and a quarter members."

Ralph A. Walker, mayor of Sedalia, welcomed the delegates to the city Saturday morning at the Uptown Theatre where the sessions are being held.

Most Rev. Joseph M. Marling, Bishop of the Jefferson City Diocese, was the celebrant at the Solemn Pontifical Mass at St. Patrick's Church which officially opened the proceedings.

The banquet was held Saturday night at the Smith-Cotton Cafeteria at which Professor Timothy Hayes (retired), Whoo-p, Mo., was the speaker. This nationally known humorous speaker, who kept his audience laughing, is really Jack Taylor of Columbia, formerly editor of the Sedalia Capital. Taylor has traveled all over the country in his role as a comedian in the character, Professor Timothy Hayes.

Toastmaster was Lawrence M. Riley, Grand Knight, Sedalia, and John Vandekamp led the National Anthem with Mrs. Rodney Shepherd at the organ.

Still Unconscious

DeRudder Seems To Be Improving

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Physicians said Saturday former coal miner Marcel DeRudder appears to be improving although he still was unconscious since a partial artificial heart was implanted in his chest two days ago.

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, world famous heart surgeon, said in a hospital advisory that DeRudder, 65, "appears better in every respect" and his electroencephalograph "would suggest slight improvement."

"Other vital signs are beginning to stabilize," the advisory said, "the heart appears to be stronger and blood pressure and pulse rate are within normal range for this patient."

DeBakey headed the team which performed the six-hour dramatic implantation operation to allow an artificial pump to take over the work load of the left ventricle of DeRudder's heart.

The operation was completed at 2 p.m. Thursday and DeBakey said the first 12 to 48 hours after surgery were considered to be the most critical.

A midway advisory said DeRudder showed improvement and added:

"The artificial heart is still functioning well and with only slight variations continues to assume 75 per cent of the work load of the left ventricle. In general the patient is doing well."

DeBakey said he hoped the dome-shaped pump will have completed in a week or 10 days the job of allowing the left ventricle to rest sufficiently to take over its normal work of doing the majority of the heart's pumping. It then can be removed without major surgery. DeBakey and the team of specialists hope the device, part of which is imbedded in the patient's chest, will lead to more developments aimed at adding additional years of useful life to the many heart patients.

Two six-inch tubes, about an inch in diameter, were attached to DeRudder's heart to provide a bypass of the left ventricle.

Doctors said Friday they were treating DeRudder for removal of excess brain fluid. They said he may have suffered "temporary brain damage" during the operation.

They said this condition has been encountered previously in open heart cases and was not due to the plastic pump which has operated satisfactorily since the operation.

DeBakey said the patient's unconsciousness may be blamed on edema, a swelling caused by an unusually large amount of fluid on the brain.

Doctors said the swelling does not necessarily cause permanent damage but a prolonged condition might.

DeRudder's only outside visitor has been his wife, Edna, who arrived Friday from their home in Westville, Ill.

She said her husband had suffered heart trouble for 25 years. She said she did not know her husband had undergone surgery until she was informed by reporters.

"He didn't want me to know until it was over, she said."

Mrs. Askew Publicity Director

Mrs. W. C. Askew, vice-president of the Sedalia-Pettis County United Fund Board of Directors, was appointed publicity director for the forthcoming United Fund drive, it was announced recently by James T. Denny, president.

Mrs. Askew will head a committee to educate and inform the public of the United Fund agencies and the community services supported by the fund.

The new publicity director has been very active in community affairs, both in Pettis and Benton Counties. Her most recent important position was that of president of the Pettis County Heart Council. Mrs. Askew has also been a community leader in youth work, having been engaged in 4-H work for ten years. She has been a member of the out-state board of directors for the Children's Mercy Hospital and a past president of the Sedalia District of the Missouri Congress of PTA.

Mrs. Askew is also on the board of directors of the Boonlick Library; member of the Helen G. Steele Music Club; member of the Epworth Methodist Church, where she is chairman of the Commission on Christian Education. One of her current interests is the Sedalia Boy's Club and she was recently elected secretary-treasurer of this group.

Answer For Problem Is Proposed

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller proposed today that the nation's newspaper publishers help solve the relocation problems of those losing jobs in the New York newspaper merger.

Rockefeller made the suggestion to the American Newspaper Publishers Association during a "press conference in reverse."

He appeared as Scoop Rockefeller of Albany, N.Y., alongside Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, billed as "Byline Brown of Sacramento, Calif."

The governors interviewed four publishers on the fourth and final day of the ANPA's 80th annual convention here.

Rockefeller referred to convention reports of a shortage of qualified newspaper personnel, and then called attention to reports that about 1,800 would lose their jobs here in a newspaper merger eliminating one paper.

Three New York papers — the Herald Tribune, the Journal-American and the World-Telegram and the Sun — have combined into a corporation to publish one morning, one afternoon and one Sunday paper.

The merged corporation has been unable to publish its newspapers because of a five-day-old strike by the AFL-CIO Newspaper Guild of New York.

Rockefeller said he wondered whether the ANPA could not help end the strike by aiding "in solving the problem of relocation" for the displaced employees.

Chevrolet dealers asked GM for help and GM responded by asking "the offending dealers" to abandon such sales. "The principal offenders," he said, "were treated to unprecedented individual confrontations" with the regional manager.

Submarine Loses Girl Stowaway

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — The British submarine Walrus continued its journey home today with nothing but Her Majesty's sailors aboard — after having dropped off a stowaway teen-age girl who said she wanted to visit England because she liked English boys.

The girl, Barbara McVay, 17, of Baltimore, is back with her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Rubert Turso.

The Walrus and two more British subs — the Osiris and the Opportune — were docked in Baltimore since last Thursday, following NATO maneuvers in the Atlantic.

When the Walrus left for home Wednesday, Barbara was hiding in the conning tower.

After four hours, exhaust fumes from the sub's engine sickened her and she turned herself in.

A police detective said later, he said the compartment where she hid would have filled with water if the sub had submerged.

When she did come out of hiding, the sub radioed the British Embassy and was ordered to get the girl back to land immediately.

An Army engineers patrol boat met the sub in the Delaware Canal. Barbara was placed in the Wilmington detention home until her parents arrived several hours later.

Soybean Futures In Recovery Of Losses

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures recovered Thursday their moderate losses of the previous session but the gains were mostly little changed in rather quiet trading.

Brokers said speculators who had been encouraged by the absence of significant pressure contributed most of the support for soybeans.

The May wheat deliver declined well over a cent a bushel. Corn held about steady in an evenly mixed trade. The May contract closed unchanged.

Wheat finished 1 1/2 cents a bushel lower to 1/8 higher, May $1.59; corn unchanged to 1/8 lower, May $1.27 1/2-1/2; oats 1/8-1/4 lower, May 68 3/4-1/2; rye 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, May $1.19-1/4; soybeans unchanged to 2 cents higher, May $3.04 1/4-1/2.
